NEW SUDETEN PLAN PROPOSED; MUNICH AGREEMENT HOPE HIGH

STORM LEAVES 25 DEAD, 300 HURT IN SOUTH

Charleston, S. C., Ripped by Sudden Gale; Collapse of Building Reported.

LASTS ONLY A MINUTE

Freak Wind Strikes Widely Separated Sections of City During Downpour.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—President Roosevelt today ordered the navy, marine corps, army and other federal agencies into Charleston, S. C., where a tornado took a heavy toll of dead and injured.

(By Associated Press)

CHARLESTON, S. C.—A tornado hit historic Charleston with sudden and vicious fury at about 8 a. m., today, killed at least 25 persons and injured probably 300 more in a welter of wreckage that was spotted throughout the city.

The sudden storm of not more than a minute's duration in any one place was paced by a downpour as it swept down with devastating destruction on various parts of the city.

21 Still Unidentified.

Of the 25 reported killed, 15 were colored. The dead were not immediately identified except these four white persons:

Mrs. Ruth Mehrtens, 26; Irvin H. Mehrtens, 3, Miriam Zeigler, 14, and Lloyd Singletary, 9, all killed when their house collapsed.

Communication within the city was disrupted by the damage done to telephone lines.

One report was that part of the ancient City Market building in Market street had collapsed, killing a number of persons From the Charleston Evening Post building in lower Broad street. many damaged buildings could be seen.

The power supply was put out of commission. The Post was uncertain whether it would be able to publish an edition today.

The storm was brief but violent. Some observers estimated that it did not last as long as a minute in any one place. It apparently struck in widely separated places in the city. Rain was falling heavily at the time.

TRUCKS MOVING

Operators Give in to N. Y. Mayor's Settlement Pact.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A full supply of provisions for New York City's millions started moving today as truck operators capitulated to Mayor La Guardia's terms for settlement of a 4-day drivers' strike.

While 15,000 union truckmen ended their walkout and prepared to clear warehouses packed with a 4-day accumulation of goods, over-the-road truckers deferred a final decision on the mayor's compromise, keeping their estimated 7,500 long-distance trucks idle.

The 2-year contract proposed by the mayor and finally accepted by the merchant truckmen's bureau, representing local operators, provided a 44-hour week with no pay reduction, as compared with the present 47-hour week and the 40-hours demanded by the strikers.

KEEPS PANTS

Farmer Loses Everything But Own Clothes in Alimony Suit.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE — (U.P.) — Charles Koronish, 45, farmer, had one pair of pants, a shirt, bow tie and a pair of shoes left today following an alimony suit brought by his common law wife, Stella.

Judge Bernard Witten ruled that everything else that Koronish possessed, including 75 bushels of wheat, 100 bushels of corn, 12 sacks of potatoes, one horse, two hogs, two cows and the household goods, must be turned over to Mrs. Koronish.

DARE FATAL TO GIRL, 8

FT. MYERS, Fla. — (AP) — Playmates of eight-year-old Wanda Botts, who stood barefoot on a tin roof, said she wouldn't dare touch a power line overhead. The girl bravely grasped the line. She died.

BRICKER TO BE IN CITY TONIGHT

G. O. P. Gubernatorial Nominee Heads Speakers for Rally Opening County Drive.

The first major political rally of the fall campaign in the county will initiate the new Republican headquarters and launch the G. O. P. vote drive at 8 p. m. today in the Warner Brothers building on North Main street.

Principal speaker at the meeting will be John W. Bricker, the party's candidate for governor, who will be here for the first time since his unsuccessful campaign for governor two years ago.

Bricker is due to speak at 9 p. m. after coming here from a rally at Ashland.

Judge Walter B. Wanamaker, Akron, candidate for chief justice of the Ohio supreme court, also is expected to attend the meeting tonight, and probably will speak briefly.

Other state candidates who are expected to speak are Paul M. Herbert, candidate for lieutenant governor; Earl Griffith, candidate for secretary of state; and Don Ebright, for treasurer. All Republican county and district candidates have been invited.

The Prospect Park band will play for the rally, the first meeting to be held in the G. O. P. headquarters on the second floor of the Warner building. The room will seat more than 1,000 persons.

Atty. Stuart H. Cramer will be in charge of the meeting.

DEWEY TO HEAD G. O. P. TICKET

'Racket Buster' Nominated Candidate For New York Governorship.

SARATOGA SPRINGS—(U.P.)—Thomas E. Dewey, 36-year-old "racket busting" district attorney of New York county, was nominated today as the Republican candidate for governor of New York.

The Republican state convention nominated the youthful prosecutor with utmost confidence that he would be elected in November and return politically important New York to the Republican fold. Earlier the convention adopted a platform assailing the New Deal and pledging the party to an intensive drive to restore business recovery.

CANCELS TRIP

Ship Held In New York 'Owing to Unforeseen Circumstances.'

LONDON — (U.P.)—The Cunard-White Star line today cancelled the sailing of the liner Aquitania for New York Oct. 5 "owing to unforeseen circumstances over which the company had no control." Passengers were advised to seek other accommodations.

The fate of Europe—for the present perhaps for years to come—was being decided today at a momentous conference of the four men pictured above, each the leader of a great and powerful nation At the bottom is a street scene in Munich, the German city in which the conference, to reach a settlement of the Czecho-German crisis, was being held. It was in Munich that Adolf Hitler launched his National Socialist movement 15 years ago.

Democracy vs. Dictatorship; Can World Hold Them Both?

Democracy and dictatorship met face to face today in the old Bavarian city of Munich.

The issue between them was whether the world was big enough for both.

Only the threat of immediate war brought them together. Only a diplomatic miracle could long keep them at peace.

The four men at Munich, Neville Chamberlain, the British industrialist turned statesman, Adolf Hitler. the revolutionist risen to absolute power in the reich; Edouard Daladier, the "strong man" of French political wars; Benito Mussolini, the socialist transformed into a fascist empire builder.

Four men—but in the swift swirl of modern diplomacy four hundred millions may eat or starve, countless thousands may live or die by their decisions.

* * *

The four rulers of Europe's destiny had hastened to Munich for a "last, last effort" to hold off the still acute danger of war arising from Germany's demand for the Sudetenland frontier of Czechoslovakia. But—if it can be achieved—peaceful solution of the Czech crisis will be a single step toward solving the greater problem of stabilizing Europe's peace.

This week the catastrophic climax seemed certain—not because the Czechoslovak republic was in danger of destruction but because it appeared to the democracies that the time had come for them to fight or fade away.

Actually, the problem of war or peace is not as simple as dictatorship versus democracy; nor as simple as Chamberlain's determination to resist domination by fear of force. Its roots go deeply into the ancient problem of economic rivalries. Dictator ruled Germany has grown strong again and reaches out to make herself still

ERROL FLYNN IMPROVES

HOLLYWOOD —(INS)— Physicians attending Errol Flynn, film favorite, said today he had shown slight improvement in his fight against a threatened attack of pneumonia. Flynn was placed in a hospital here suffering a streptococcic infection of the throat.

$15,000 FUND SHIFT AIDS CITY

Budget Board Cuts Operating Fund $55,000 but OK's Bond Fund Transfer.

A transfer of $15,000 from the general bond retirement fund to the general fund in the 1939 budget today had brightened the city's financial picture for next year, City Auditor Paul L. Kelley disclosed today.

The shift of the funds was authorized by the budget commission Tuesday at the request of city officials after the commission slashed operating expenses for 1939 by $55,000. The city had asked for $502,440 but was allowed only $247,000 to meet operating expenses next year.

The fund change increases the 1939 operating expenses from $247,000 to $263,240 or $16,147 more than was actually appropriated for 1938.

The resolution accepting the amounts and rates determined by the county budget commission will now go before city council for approval at its next regular meeting Oct. 4.

Deputy County Auditor Arthur S. Beck today explained that the shift in funds reducing the gen-

ARREST ROBBER AT 'SHOE COURT'

Suspect Confesses Participation In Holdup of Messengers.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Police had a man they said was a bank messenger robber in jail today after getting him in a horseshoe pitching contest. Lieut. Glenn C. Hoffman said the man, Ray Grimes, 34, confessed participation in the holdup of two bank messengers.

Albert Denton, 42, of Indian Lake, is under $15,000 bond as the second man in the holdups. Detectives captured Grimes after dressing in old clothes and attending a horseshoe pitching contest where the suspect was scheduled to play.

LOCKJAW FATAL

Jeffe Courtright Dies at Willard Hospital; Ill for Week.

WILLARD — Jeffe Courtright, 62, died at Municipal hospital Wednesday noon from lockjaw. He stepped on a rusty nail a week ago and was admitted to the hospital Sunday evening.

The body was removed to North Fairfield for burial. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

CAMBRIDGE — (U.P.) — George Kesselering, Pleasant City, was in serious condition in a Byesville hospital today with wounds received when another squirrel hunter mistook him for a squirrel.

Reports of Fateful Conference Tell Of Steps Toward Peace

War or Peace?

PARIS —(INS)— Premier Mussolini proposed withdrawal of all foreign volunteers from Spain in the first four-power conference today, Havas reported from Munich, according to Reuter's agency.

CASTLE GANDOLFO—(AP)—Pope Pius XI asked the world today to have "recourse to the unarmed but invincible power of prayer" to avert "the imminent danger of war." The pope broadcast his message over a vast radio hook-up. It was in the form of a pastoral letter addressed to the bishops, clergy and faithful, and read to them by the holy father.

BUDAPEST, HUNGARY — (INS)—Count Osaky, chef de cabinet at the Hungarian foreign ministry, took off by plane for Munich today, presumably to observe developments at the four-power conference on the European crisis.

TESCHEN, Poland — (U.P.) — A Polish volunteer guard again today crossed the Czechoslovak frontier and tossed hand grenades into the police station in Czech Teschen. All windows in the police station were smashed. No casualties were reported.

LONDON—(INS)—After being held at the Croydon airport here by failure of the German government to give them permission to land at Munich, members of the Czechoslovak legation in London took off by plane this afternoon two hours after the four-power conference opened.

PICK UP STILL

Federal Agents Arrest Three in Canton Raid.

CANTON—(AP)—The largest still confiscated here in recent years was in the hands of federal agents today following a raid on a private house.

The raid followed the arrest of one man on a federal charge of illegal possession and transportation of liquor and another on a charge of possessing untaxed liquor.

Arrested on the first charge was Carl Cacioppi and on the second August Falasco. The raid then led to the arrest of Louis Varrego, 24, on charges of operating an unlicensed still.

Arresting officers said the still was capable of producing 50 gallons of liquor a day.

HOMES SHAKEN BY BOMB BLAST

Strike-Bound Plant Damaged By Second Explosion.

CINCINNATI—(UP)—The second bomb explosion in four months at the E. H. Bardes Range and Foundry Co. here shook homes in the neighborhood and was heard nearly five miles away early today.

The bomb, apparently of amateurish construction, police said, caused no damage. The first bombing broke $25 worth of windows.

Although the moulders' union (American Federation of Labor) has been conducting a strike against the firm the last seven months, company officials believed the bombing had no connection with the strike.

CRASH KILLS BABY

PORTSMOUTH —(INS)— Scioto county officials held an inquest today in the death of Betty Ruth Turner, 10-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wrell Turner, who died of injuries suffered when the family automobile collided with another car on a country road near Wheelersburg.

Four "Men of the Hour" Discuss New British Occupation Offer; Nazi Spokesmen Indicate Early Settlement Expected.

BULLETIN

MUNICH—(AP)—Informed German sources said tonight that Reichsfuehrer Hitler had agreed that the German army would make only a "parade occupation" of the Eger and Asch regions, extreme western Czechoslovakia, on Oct. 1 and 2. Other sections of the Sudetenland are to be occupied gradually.

(By Associated Press)

MUNICH—Hopes for an early settlement assuring Europe of peace for the moment were expressed by British and German officials alike today as the Munich four-power conference of the fate of Czechoslovakia entered its second session of the day at 4:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m., EST).

The conference was resumed in the glistening Fuehrerhaus after a suspension of nearly two hours, during which came expressions from both sides of confidence an agreement would be reached.

It was indicated it would meet Reichsfuehrer Hitler's demand that his troops be permitted to march into Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland Oct. 1 for at least a symbolic occupation.

To the conference's opening session a British plan countering Hitler's demand was submitted. It was understood to provide that the German army would march in without fanfare and accompanied by detachments of the British, French and Italian armies to make it look less like a German invasion.

Europe's men of the hour, Germany's supreme leader, Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain, Premier Mussolini of Italy and Premier Daladier of France, met beneath the gorgeous pagan panels of the palace Hitler built to glorify the birth here of the Nazi movement which has carried him to the pinnacle of power.

With the powers' preparations for war still going forward, the question of life or death for millions hung on their decisions.

Crowds Acclaim Conferees.

The Bavarian street crowds roared acclaim for each group as automobiles bearing delegates back to the Fuehrerhaus whizzed through the streets, but loudest applause was that for Britain's prime minister, chief mover in the effort to avert war.

Four times the crowds roared as one by one, Daladier, Chamberlain, Hitler and finally Mussolini and their escorts sped back to the scene of the fateful conference.

The German chancellor and the premiers of Great Britain, France and Italy met informally at 12:45 p. m. (6:45 a. m., EST) and had a buffet luncheon, meanwhile informally discussing the problem before them.

The discussion continued until 2:45 p. m. and then recessed "to permit the conferees to have a brief rest." An hour and a half later, at 4:30 p. m. (10:30 a. m., EST) they resumed their talks.

It was during the suspension of discussion that the British delegation revealed its new plan for German occupation of the Sudeten territory and indicated it felt the offer would be accepted.

German official hopes for peaceful settlement were shown when a government spokesman suggest-

WASHINGTON: U. S. Certain As It Awaits Munich Outcome

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The American government looked from afar on the momentous four-power peace conference at Munich today, with a quiet confidence Europe has been saved from a suicidal war.

There was also evident unconcealed optimism that forces at last have been set in motion that may assure peace for another generation at least.

No American statesman sat down at the peace table, for the problems to be settled were those of Europe's making, and Europe's alone.

President Roosevelt emphatically barred the door for American participation, but the moral force of the Uniter Sates was almost a living embodiment as Chancellor Hitler of Germany, Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain, Premier Mussolini of Italy, and Premier Daladier of France, began their historic conversations.

For no doubt remained that the heroic efforts of President Roosevelt to persuade Reichsfuehrer Hitler to settle his demands for the Sudeten Germans by peaceful negotiation, rather than with artillery, had been of vital effect—at the moment war seemed inevitable.

President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull were supremely confident today as the Munich conference got underway. The tension that had reached the snapping point in the nation's capital this week was gone, and hope had dispelled the pervading pessimism and gloom of war's hideous threat.

Washington also looks to the negotiations of today to shape into a general settlement of European differences that may assure peace for another generation, at least.

PRAGUE: Czechs Accept In Principle New British Plan

BULLETIN

PRAGUE —(AP)— The foreign ministry decided today to send an observer to the Munich four-power conference by airplane following announcement that Czechoslovakia would accept "in principle" a new British plan to cede the Sudetenland to Germany.

(By Associated Press)

PRAGUE — The Czechoslovak government announced today the acceptance in "principle" but with "come reservations" of a new British plan for the execution of an Anglo-French scheme to cede the Sudetenland to Germany.

A communique announced that Prague "adopted a positive attitude in principle toward British proposals regarding the execution, by degrees, of delimitation and of transfer of the territories."

The acceptance was made known to Great Britain before the four-statesmen parley opened today in Munich. It contained "some reservations," however.

The Czechoslovak note did not specify the nature of the new British plan but it was believed it concerned technical measures for speeding up the cession of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten German areas to Germany under an Anglo-French plan that Chancellor Adolf Hitler rejected at a conference in Godesberg, with British Prime Minister Chamberlain on Sept. 22.

NOMADS CELEBRATE GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

First President of Pioneering Women's Club Attends Luncheon Party at Westbrook Country Club Yesterday.

EXACTLY 50 years ago Monday—Sept. 26, 1888—a group of pioneering club women organized the Nomad club in Mansfield. Yesterday there was a remnant of that same original group present for the anniversary luncheon which was held at the Westbrook Country club, and which was attended by 31 members.

Mrs. Louis Wales, first president, attended the meeting, and was honored with the birthday cake decorated with 50 candles being placed before her. Mrs. Wales was Miss Katherine Sturges when she headed the organization. Of the group of charter members there are 11 living, and five are in Mansfield. Mrs. Huggins was guide of the club during its first year.

Those in addition to Mrs. Wales who attended the luncheon were Mrs. E. B. Caldwell, Mrs. Florence Larrabee and Miss Ada Sturges. Mrs. R. A. Tracy was not present.

Luncheon was served at a U-shaped table covered with yellow cloths and set with yellow, with white flowers decorating the table. A poetic toast was read by Mrs. Paul Spencer, secretary. After speaking of the group's activities, and the work of the club, she concluded with these lines:

"A remnant of that gallant band
Who so conceived and who so planned
Is here today within our ranks;
We give them praise and give them thanks
'Long health, long youth'—we quote from Pope;
He says it better—this our hope
For you who built as pioneers
What's weathered fifty changing years."

Each of the charter members present spoke briefly of the early days and others also gave reminiscences. Letters from older members now residing in other cities were read to the group.

Mrs. Charles H. Keating presented an "art gallery" which included pictures of as many of the members as possible, and a prize for guessing the largest number correctly was awarded to Mrs. J. Arthur Rigby. Old pieces of interest loaned by each member formed a museum.

Mrs. William Weldon, president, was hostess for the luncheon. The next meeting will be Oct. 12 with Mrs. Keating as hostess, and Mrs. Charles S. Williams presenting the program.

Church Members To Have Supper

Moving pictures and an address by Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will feature the family pre-rally day covered-dish supper to be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church Friday at 6:30 p. m. Rev. Roller's subject will be "A Dependable Church in a Dependant Generation."

Charles Abele, superintendent of the church school, will preside and Fred Theirlien, jr., will lead the community singing. Mrs. D. C. Cole is chairman of the supper committee. In connection with this supper the winning team in the church school attendance contest will be honored by the losing team. Plans will be announced at this time for the rally day which will be observed Sunday at the 9:15 a. m. church school session and at the 10:30 a. m. morning service.

Guests were requested to bring their own table service, it was announced this morning by members of the committee in charge.

Entertains Friends on Anniversary of Birth

The two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Kiley, 404 Wood street, was honored yesterday at a party in celebration of his birthday. The little boy, Kenneth "Pat" Kiley, was host to nine small friends. Luncheon was served to the children at a table decorated with a birthday cake bearing the child's name and age.

Guests were Sandra Lee Rosin, Beverly and Patricia Arnold, George Helfel, Frank and Paul Beach, Peggy Ann Pittman, Robert and Lois Jolley.

Mrs. Kindel Has Party In Honor Of Martha Hering

Another smart party was given yesterday to honor Miss Martha Hering who will become the bride of John Tillotson Oct. 22. Mrs. Jack Kindel, 435 Davis road, was hostess for the affair which was a luncheon-bridge for eight guests at her home.

The luncheon was served at a table decorated in yellow, green and white. The centerpiece was a flat floral arrangement in white with a tiny bride in the middle, above which was suspended a wedding bell from which hung satin ribbons and white blooms.

Bridge prize were presented to Mrs. H. H. Hering, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Harry Rist, and the honored guest. The winners gave their gifts to Miss Hering, and the entire group presented a rose tinted mirror to the bride-to-be.

Announce Topic Of Guest Speaker

When Lena Madesin Phillips, president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women and associate editor of Pictorial Review, comes to Mansfield, Oct. 11 she will lecture on "Strange New Worlds." Mrs. Phillips will appear before members of the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's clubs in celebration of Nation Business Women's week.

The speaker, who has only recently returned from Europe, will be the guest of honor at a dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. She has a tremendous interest in world politics and affairs, and is a capable analyst of the general European situation.

Arrangements for the affair are being made by Georgianna Chidsey, Falsom B. Teeter, Maude Vail, Bernice Swinehart, Mabel Selfe, Mary Foos and Rachel Dengler.

Aid Division B. Elects Officers at Hout Home

Mrs. Leo Jones, president of the Division B. of the Ladies' Aid of the United Brethren church, who presided over the meeting and led the devotions last night, was re-elected to her office. Mrs. Mary Hout, 334 North Townview circle, was hostess to the 11 members and two guests for the session.

Other officers are Mrs. John Miller, vice president; Mrs. W. L. Yohn, secretary, and Mrs. Ernest Chronister, treasurer. Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held Oct. 7 and 8. At the close of the session luncheon was served. The next meeting will be Oct. 26 with Mrs. Yohn, Trimble road.

There was one guest, Mrs. J. Schmidt, present last night for the meeting of the Do-Be-There club when Mrs. Nick Blocher, North Mulberry street, entertained. Michigan was played preceding the serving of luncheon. Mrs. Harry West won the club prize and the second card award. Mrs. Edward Tinkey and the guest were the other winners. The next meeting will be a banquet Oct. 12. No place was announced.

Wide, Sweeping Skirt Latest for Evening Wear

SHELL pink slipper satin makes this full-skirted evening gown designed for winter galas. Its heavy fabric, off shoulder decolletage, slim waistline and spreading skirt all are typical of the new 1938 mode. Little puffed sleeves fall below its shoulder line. Amethyst earrings add to its luster. (Costume assembled by Bonwit Teller.)

Business Women's Board Plans Public Relations Dinner

AN EXECUTIVE board meeting was held last night by the Business and Professional Women's club at the Evergreens with 16 members present. Invitations to meetings in other cities, and plans for the public relations dinner to be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Oct. 11 were discussed.

Lena Madesin Phillips, international president of the B. and P. W., will be guest speaker at the affair. The lecture, which will follow the dinner, will be open to the public.

The president's dinner will be held Oct. 25 by the Cleveland club with Miss Earlene White as the guest speaker. She is national president of the organization. Members of the Ironton club will celebrate Oct. 9 with a birthday dinner. For their guest speaker they have chosen Jesse Stuart, author, teacher and journalist.

On Oct. 4 the Zanesville club will also present Lena Madesin Phillips, and the Ashland club will have Mrs. Endora Ramsey Richardson, Richmond, Va., as guest speaker Oct. 13. Her subject will be "Our Grandmothers' World and Ours."

Marjorie High, transportation chairman, is in charge of arranging for Mansfield members to attend these out-of-town sessions.

A Better Way to Treat Constipation!

When you're constipated, it's a great temptation to be satisfied with quick relief. But medicines may become a habit. And they don't keep constipation from returning. It's so much better to get at the cause of the trouble!

If you eat what most people do, chances are the only thing the matter is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. This crunchy cereal contains both "bulk" and the intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1. And it's not a drug, not a medicine! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by grocers. Served by restaurants.

Two Affairs Fete Bride-Elect, Miss Bettie Fichter, This Week

TWO parties honoring Miss Bettie Fichter who will become the bride of Roland Flowers Oct. 2 at the First Christian church have been given in the past two days. Last night Miss Jean Shively and Mrs. Paul Zimmerman entertained at the former's home with a kitchen shower.

The 14 guests spent the evening making a recipe file and a bride's book for the bride-to-be. The hostesses presented the honoree with a pottery gift. The gifts were found by Miss Fichter reading directions written on clothes pins.

Luncheon was served at the close of the evening at tables decorated with green and white appointments. Clothes pin dolls dressed in green were the favors. Miniature bouquets of garden flowers centered the card tables.

* * *

Tuesday evening Mrs. Sam Moore, East Mansfield, was hostess to a group of 15 friends of Miss Fichter's. The evening was spent playing cootie, and the guest of honor and Mrs. Nina Paxton were the winners.

Miss Fichter was directed to her gifts by ringing of alarm clocks throughout the house. Fall flowers were used for decorating the luncheon table. The hostess presented the honoree with a wedding gift.

KOROKNAY-APPLEMAN WEDDING DATE SET

Announcement of Approaching Marriage of Mansfield Couple Made at Party Last Night; Ceremony Will Be Oct. 8.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the approaching marriage of Miss Ann Koroknay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Koroknay, 339 Ohio street, was made last night at a party given at the home of Miss Louise Sears, 187 West First street. Miss Koroknay will become the bride of Theodore Appleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Appleman, 98 Heineman boulevard.

The announcement was made by means of a telegram which was delivered to Miss Evelyn Teale, who read the message to the guests while they were seated at four small tables. The color scheme was carried out in pink and white with pink rose buds given for favors.

Games were played with the prize being won by Mrs. Carl Lewis who in turn presented it to the bride-elect.

Both Miss Koroknay and Mr. Appleman attended Mansfield Senior high school, and she is employed at the Balyeat Mattress company while he is with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

A number of pre-nuptial parties are being planned for the bride-to-be.

Miss Ray Hostess at Party for Two Brides

Miss Theo Ray, 227 West First street, was hostess to 10 friends of Mrs. Robert Hall's and Mrs. John Williams' last night at a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. Hall was Miss Margaret Boling, and Mrs. Williams was Miss Helen Adams before their recent marriages.

The evening was spent in making recipe files for the two brides. Miss Ray presented each with a crystal gift. Pink and green decorations and a floral centerpiece combined with lighted tapers in candelabra were used on the long table when the luncheon was served.

Republican Council Has Dinner, Card Party

A covered-dish dinner was served yesterday to members of the Republican Women's Council at North Lake park following which they played pinochle. Mrs. W. F. Miller and Mrs. F. P. Barr, Lexington, were guests of the organization.

Mrs. Eleanor Stone Smith won the door prize and a card prize. Mrs. Albert Bissman, who was chairman for the meeting, was also a prize winner. The next meeting will be Oct. 26 at the park.

PLAY EUCHRE.

Two tables of euchre were in play yesterday when Mrs. Lee Bartlett, Raleigh avenue, was hostess to the Wooden Shoe Euchre club. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Roy Daugherty, Mrs. Garnard Kelly and Miss Natalie Normant. The next meeting will be Oct. 13 with Mrs. Harold Garn, Woodland avenue.

Give Recent Bride Surprise Shower

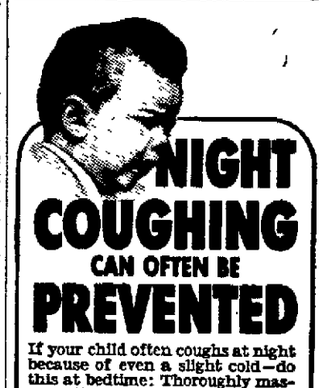
Mrs. Joseph Morganstern, 4 Glenwood heights, entertained last night in honor of a recent bride, Mrs. Emil Thomas, at her home. Mrs. Thomas, the former Miss Anna Hoffman, was feted with a surprise canned goods shower at the end of a social evening.

Both Mrs. Morganstern and Mrs. Thomas were employed in the purchasing department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company before their marriages, and the guests were business associates. Luncheon was served at a blue-and-yellow decorated table. Blue flowers and lighted tapers were used.

Sewing Circle Members Quilt at All-Day Meet

Members of the Companion Sewing circle quilted yesterday at the all-day meeting which was held at the K. of P. hall. There were 18 present for the 12 o'clock dinner which was served by the hostesses, Mrs. A. H. Sayles and Mrs. W. T. Heldenbrand.

Mrs. Edith Aerhart conducted a lodge meeting at 3 p. m. The next meeting will be Oct. 26 and Mrs. Jennie Simmons and Mrs. Lillian Turner will be the hostesses.



NIGHT COUGHING CAN OFTEN BE PREVENTED

If your child often coughs at night because of even a slight cold—do this at bedtime: Thoroughly massage Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest, and back. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action tends to keep the air-passages clear, helping to maintain normal breathing through the nose, and so reducing mouth-breathing (the frequent cause of night coughs). Try it tonight—learn for yourself another reason why VapoRub is a family standby in more homes than all other medications of its kind put together.

SENIOR HIGH ARRANGES VARIED ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS FOR YEAR

An assembly program made up of both professional and student talent, and motion pictures, will be presented at Senior high school during the 1938-39 school year.

Earl Heasley, dramatic instructor at the school, in charge of assembly programs, announced that six professional speakers and entertainers have been booked in addition to the student assemblies that will be presented from week to week.

Heading the speakers is Dr. Frank G. Sayers, New York pastor and widely known speaker. He is scheduled to appear at the school Oct. 19 and will speak on "Are You A Thoroughbred?"

Other who will follow are C. E Jones, who demonstrates the human jobs that gyroscopes are doing to transportation, industry and science; Max K. Gilstrap, a United States ranger and naturalist; Russell Hoogerhyde, five times national archery champion; Karl S. Bolander of Columbus, artist, and the Le Petit string ensemble, comprised of three men and three women musicians.

The student programs will be presented by various groups and organizations at the school, giving the students a chance to appear before an audience, Heasley said. In addition to these programs, motion pictures that have appeared at Mansfield theaters will be shown occasionally.

Assembly programs at the school are presented every Wednesday morning and attended by all students and faculty members.

Joins Sister In Fred Waring Show Now In New York

The brother-and-sister song recital at First Congregational church at 8:15 p. m. today, in which Jane and Jack Wilson will be presented by their teacher, Miss Florence MacDonald, took on new interest today as it was announced that Fred Waring, famous orchestra leader, had summoned both of them to New York City, where Jack will also be placed under contract.

In a telephone conversation last night, Waring asked them both to be in New York City by Monday night, to begin rehearsals for his winter broadcasts.

Waring said Jack would be given a place in the show's glee club at once and will be groomed for solo work, while Jane will return to the girls' trio.

Jack was given an audition last spring when the Waring show was in Akron. Jane was already in the show. The Waring broadcasts will start Saturday, Oct. 8, over the NBC red network at 8:30 p. m.

Jack Wilson is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high and attended Oberlin college. He has been coaching for a career in voice for several years. One of the most interesting numbers on the program tonight will be a group from Puccini's "La Boheme" in which Jack will sing the tenor aria and Jane the soprano aria, with both of their voices heard together in the duet "O Soave Faniculla."

A guest artist on the program tonight is Miss Jean Seybold, the Mansfield girl whose unusual piano ability won her a scholarship this summer at the musical conservatory at Fontainbleau, France.

GROWING BEARDS

Bus Drivers Want to Make Celebration Realistic.

JOHANNESBURG—(AP)—A "bus boys' beaver club" has been formed by young municipal bus drivers and conductors who pledged themselves to grow beards before the end of the year.

This is one of the developments in the beard growing campaign being carried on all over the country to make the celebrations in connection with the "Voortrekker Centenary Celebrations" as realistic as possible.

URGED TO WED

BOSTON—(INS)—If school teachers having an opportunity to marry take Mayor Maurice J. Tobin's advice, they will resign, say "yes" to suitors and start to raise families.

For families are needed to bolster the decreasing lower grade school enrollment here. Loss of pupils in the first six grades eventually may result in the hiring of fewer teachers, said Tobin.

GRAPE CROP OFF

Lightest Harvest In Years Seen For Lake Erie Regions.

SANDUSKY—(U.P.)—The lightest grape crop in the memory of Erie county vineyards is being harvested in the Sandusky area this year, G. A. Runner, U. S. entomologist, said today.

He said there would be a decided shortage of Catawbas and Delawares, although other sections which raise Concords have large crops of that variety to make up the deficiency here and at the Lake Erie islands.

Australia's first mill for extracting tung oil, used for paint making and similar purposes, was erected at Mascot, an industrial suburb of Sydney.

ACCUSES PAIR OF ROBBING HIM OF LIFE SAVINGS IN CHURCH

(By United Press)

ALIQUIPPA, Pa. — An Ohio steel worker charged here that two men defrauded him of his life savings — $4,000 — as the three prayed for "good fortune" side by side in a church.

The defrauded man, Jerry Simone, 30, of McDonald, O., accused Nick Schumon, 38, of Aliquippa and Steubenville, O., of a part in the alleged fraud. Schumon denied the charge, refused to wave extradition and was jailed pending outcome of a request by Ohio authorities for his return.

According to Simone, Schumon and another man came to him Aug. 4 and told him of the death of an uncle who had left them $25,000. The uncle's will stipulated that the money be split three ways, however, and the two men, who said they were brothers, told Simone they could not find the third heir.

Simone accepted their proposal that he pose as a third heir, to get one third of the estate. But before carrying out the plan, he said, the men demanded "proof" that he was a "willing and industrial worker."

So Simone withdrew from the bank $4,000 he had been saving to buy a house and the three went to church. Inside, the men produced a package they said contained the uncle's $25,000. The two bundles were put in the church collection box and the three then lit devotional candles and prayed that "good fortune would bless us," the steel worker related.

After praying, the men said they were satisfied with his honesty and promised that he would get his third of the estate. Then they returned Simone's money to him. But when he got to the bank to redeposit the fund, he found instead of his $4,000 one $10 and four $1 bills wrapped in stage money.

26 DAMS BEING CONSTRUCTED IN OHIO'S RIVERS

Big and Little Projects Now Underway as U. S. Engineers Harness Streams.

(By Associated Press)

EAST LIVERPOOL—U. S. engineers aren't overlooking any bets for flood control and stream improvement.

They are utilizing everything from gigantic reservoir dams capable of impounding millions of gallons of water, to barriers that one can step across.

In the first category is the big Tygart dam on the Tygart river, in this federal river district and in the latter classification are the 27 low dams—two to four feet in height—planned on the tributaries in the Huntington district.

The WPA will construct the dams, under technical supervision of the engineers. The thirteen will be built on Shade river and Leading creek in Meigs county, O. They will vary from 30 to 150 feet in crest length and will be of the overflow type with no releases.

The Huntington project will cost $41,000 and provides for the general cleanup of the smaller streams as part of the improvement phase of the work. The remaining 14 will be erected on small creeks in Monroe county, O.

Completion within 30 days is planned for repairs now under way on dam 12 near Martins Ferry. The job was started this week after completion of similar improvements at dam 13 at Bellaire where a huge portable steel bulkhead was used for the first time in this district. Two weeks was the estimated time required for completion of work on dam 22 at Ravenswood where valves in the river wall are being repaired.

Another of the several large dredging jobs under way or contemplated in this district is the proposal for the dam 7, Allegheny river, pool where 90,000 cubic yards of material will be dredged. Bids were to be opened this week. At least 60 days will be required to complete the 40,000-yard job in the pool of dam 12 in the vicinity of Sisters Islands, already under way. The latter job will cost $14,682.

Work continued at top speed on the flood wall at nearby Wellsville where a total of 2,794 cubic yards of concrete has been poured to date. The project is farthest ahead of any in the Ohio valley.

Employment on district projects showed only a slight gain the past week, indicating a flattening off of the continuous rise of several weeks. The engineers reported a reduction of 25 for a total of 1,624. The loss was offset by the contractors who hired 31, raising their total to 904.

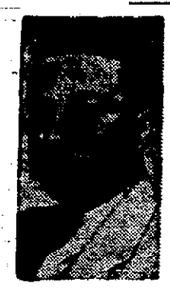
Hartnett Calls on Lee to Increase Margin Over Pirates

By Brietz



PIRATE GRIDMEN PEEVED OVER REPORTS THEY'RE MAD AT WHIZZER.

By SID FEDER

(Pinch-hitting for Eddie Brietz.)

NEW YORK — (AP) — Pittsburgh pro football Pirates are plenty peeved about the rumors that some of the boys were sore at all the publicity for Whizzer White. . . . They even took a vote on it—and now want it broadcast that the Whiz has "100 per cent cooperation" of every man on the squad. . . . Here are three whoops and a holler for old Gabby Hartnett—who can still forget he's a manager long enough to win a ball game for those Cubs. . . .

Hartnett

Detroit Tigers are figuring on a pennant in 1940, with Schoolboy Rowe coming back and a flock of good looking rookies on the way up.

* * *

Swingin' Sammy Snead looked over the field in the national amateur just before it started at Oakmont, picked Willie Turnesa and Johnny Fischer as the class of the tournament, then announced: "Those other guys play like they had nails in their shoes" . . . That Minnesota backfield only averages 190 pounds, so what has Bernie Bierman got to sing the blues about. . . . Looks like the Cardinals picked a winner in Chauncey Scott. . . . They signed him from the semi-pro last year, and he only fanned 280 for Paducah in the Kitty league this summer. . . . The grapevine says Harry Stuhldreher has a passing attack at Wisconsin that belongs in the Southwest conference. . . .

* * *

Col. E. R. Bradley figures on coming back to the derby with a big bang with Benefactor. . . . Provided they can make this two-year-old travel the route like he's been stepping the dashes lately. . . . Dana Bible is keeping mighty quiet about that freshman squad down at Texas U. . . . The tip is out it's the Longhorns' hottest ever, and will be taking the Southwest apart in a year or two. . . .

* * *

SOMEBODY asked Gabby Hartnett if Bill Lee and Clay Bryant wouldn't be awful tired by world series time, provided the Cubs win the pennant. . . . "Not those guys," hollered Gabby. "All they need is a good sleep, a couple of steaks under their belts and some batters to stand up in front of 'em."

Arrange Field Day Program

WPA Workers Hold Meet at Armory Saturday.

A field meet will be staged for WPA workers and their families at the Armory at 12 p. m. Saturday, it was announced today by the committee in charge.

As a feature of the event, Brady's Unit No. 5 team and the All-Stars will play a softball game. Various field events are on schedule for men, women and children. Included on the program are a 50-yard dash, fingo hitting, long distance throwing for men and women, blindfolded walk from home plate to second base, circling bases and tug-of-war.

Plans for the field day were completed at a meeting of the committee last night.

Mehock Harriers Win Opening Meet

Coach Harry Mehock's Mansfield high school cross-country team opened its season with a 26 to 29 victory over Fremont Ross in Fremont yesterday. Bob Donnan won the race to lead the Mansfield team. He was timed over the two-mile course in 11:23 minutes.

Earl Bates of Mansfield was second. Other finishers: Sewell, F., 3; Chestnutwood, F., 4; Williams, M., 5; Klawitter, F., 6; Arnold, F., 7; Umbarger, M., 8; Burger, F., 9; Condon, M., 10.

ART LEWIS SUCCEEDS BEZDEK AS RAM COACH

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Art Lewis, former Ohio U. tackle star, today assumed the duties of head coach of the Cleveland Rams professional football team after club officials fired Hugo Bezdek as result of the team's poor early season showing. Whether Lewis will be named permanent coach probably depends on the Rams' performance in Sunday's game here against Detroit. He has been assistant to Bezdek.

WHO GIVES A HOOT?

FLATWOODS, Ky.—(AP)—Ernie Kaniels, high school football player, rushed to retrieve a football kicked into a tree during scrimmage. Out of the branches, into his arms, tumbled—not the football but a large hoot owl.

Homer Lifts Bruins

Cubs' Pilot Hits Dramatic Circuit Clout in Ninth to Give His Team Lead.

CHICAGO — (U.P.) — The Chicago Cubs, led by their iron man, Big Bill Lee, went out to Wrigley Field today determined to make a clean sweep of their crucial three-game series with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Cubs' hopes for the National league pennant hang by a single thread on today's game. A triumph will just about pave the way for an easy journey to the world series. They have won two games, and edged from second place into a half game lead over the Pirates who have held the key position without interruption since July 12. Credit Bill Lee and Charles (Gabby) Hartnett, Cubs' manager-catcher; Lee for his standup pitching, Hartnett for a drama-laden home run in the ninth yesterday which beat the Pirates 6 to 5 and gave the Cubs their lead.

Gabby Does Part.

Gabby did his part. Today he called on Lee to increase the margin. This will be Lee's fourth appearance on the mound in as many days. He pitched and won a full game Monday, relieved Dizzy Dean the next day with two out in the ninth to save a 2-1 win over the Pirates and was called on for brief relief duty yesterday as six Cubs' pitchers paraded to the mound.

Manager Pie Traynor, his back to the wall from the Cubs' powerful drive, countered with Russ Bauers, a tall righthander.

The Cubs will be after their tenth straight victory and their 20th in the last 23 games of their sensational September spurt. Even if they lose, there's a possibility their momentum may carry them to victory in a three-game series with the Cardinals this week-end. Even if they lose from here out, the 34,465 fans who saw yesterday's super-thriller never will ask for more than Gabby gave them.

The Cubs twice had come from behind to tie the score. It was five-all and there were two out in the ninth when Gabby groped his way to the plate in the gathering darkness. The umpires were getting ready to call the game a tie.

Then Mace Brown, Pittsburgh relief pitcher, threw a sweeping curve. Gabby took it for a strike. He swung at the next one and missed. The next one was right in the groove and he swung again—and connected.

The moment the bat cracked against the ball, the fans sensed its destination. It landed in the leftfield bleachers. Mob hysteria prevailed. Fans swarmed onto the field. By the time Gabby rounded third, he had to fight his way through excitement mad fans. Finally he made his way home.

Johnny Rizzo hit his 21st homer for Pittsburgh in the sixth. But that was only incidental to Gabby's clout, which might well have been worth $100,000 — representing world series shares.

Win From Phils.

In the other two National league games the Boston Bees won from the Phillies 3-1, behind Ira Hutchinson's five-hit pitching, and the Cardinals, despite five errors, outlasted the Reds to win, 8-7.

Three brilliantly pitched games featured the American league's play. Joe Krakauskas pitched Washington to a 4-1 victory over the Yankees letting the champions down with five hits. Joe Heving outdueled Lynn Nelson to give the Red Sox a 2-1 triumph over the Athletics. Each allowed six hits. George Gill's eight-hit pitching enabled Detroit to blank the St. Louis Browns, 12-0. Hank Greenberg went hitless. The White Sox outslugged the Indians, 14-11.

NEWARK BEATS BUFFALO; A. A. SERIES DEADLOCKED

NEWARK, N. J.—(INS)—Successful defenders of the Governor's cup, the Newark Bears rested today prior to launching a drive Saturday for their second consecutive little world series title. By beating Buffalo, 14-5, yesterday, the farm club of the New York Yankees, won $4,000 and the right to oppose the American association play-off winner in the little world series. Kansas City evened the game count at three-all in this elimination by beating St. Paul 12-11 last night. The first three games in the inter-league classic will be played at Newark.

Coalmen Prep for Next Foe

Kallmerten-Baer Club to Face Speed in Game With Struthers Gridmen.

GREATLY outweighed by their foe from Detroit in the opening game, Coach Gip Miller's Kallmerten & Baer Coals will meet a team more to their own size next Sunday when they tangle with the Struthers A. C. gridmen at League park.

Instead of weight, the Struthers club packs speed, Miller hears, and speed can also cause trouble, he realizes.

Smoothens Play.

However, Miller expects the Coalmen to show the Mansfield followers more in the way of a football team Sunday. Lacking time to prepare his team for the inaugural, Miller was forced to send his players into action without knowing anything about several of the candidates.

After seeing the team in action, he had a pretty good idea what changes would be necessary to smoothen the play of the club.

Although lighter, Struthers is expected to offer the semi-pro club as much trouble at did the Detroiters, and this means that the Men of Miller will have their hands full.

The two heaviest players on the club are Garas and Belichick, a pair of tackles, who tip the scales at 195 and 187, respectively.

The heaviest ball lugger in the backfield is Joe Kupec, who weighs 174. At 140, John Mihalko is the lightest, but Mansfield players will find him pretty tough, according to reports.

Virtually all of the players are former Struthers high school products. Former collegians in the lineup are Guard Carbone of Geneva. Tackle Belichick of Slippery Rock Normal and Guard Novak of Baldwin-Wallace. Karas, a tackle, is late of Kiski prep school.

Brother of Red Cat.

Belichick is a brother of Steve Belichick of Western Reserve, who played against the Mansfield high Tygers last year with the Red Cats' reserves.

Miller is holding daily practice sessions for the semi-pros at Columbia field.

Strome Heads Class B Loop

Balliett, Eichin Other Officers Named at Banquet.

Fay Strome was elected president of The News-Journal Class B golf league at the annual banquet held at the Possum Run clubhouse last night. He succeeds Homer King.

George Balliett was re-elected treasurer and Ed Eichin was elected to fill the new post of secretary.

The News-Journal trophy emblematic of the league championship was presented to Adam Brandt, captain of the Bissman company club, by Oscar Ruhl, News-Journal sports editor.

Several dozen golf balls were awarded as other team and individual prizes. Low individual honors for the season were won by Frank Vild of the Auxter Motors, who averaged 39 and a fraction strokes per nine holes. Wayne Anthony of the Central Fruit was second low with a 41 average. Vild and Oscar Frantz of the O. P. S. club tied for the low medal honors with 35's.

Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch served as toastmaster. Among the speakers he introduced were Paul Auxter, Elmer Hedeen and Al Schwein, sponsors of teams; Rev. Grover E. Swoyer and Walter McGee, owner of the club.

The golfers were entertained after the dinner by Jennie Reindl, accordionist, and Chuck Schlegel, tap and eccentric dancer.

BEAT REBELS, 34-0

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The Cincinnati Blades boasted of their second victory of the season today, having beaten the Nashville Rebels, 34 to 0, in an American professional league game last night.

MARSHALL WINS

DENVER—Everett Marshall, 218, La Junta, Colo., defeated Lee Wykoff, Nevada, Mo., 225 (Wykoff unable to return after each had taken one fall).

Hack Safe as Cubs Win Second Game From Bucs

Stan Hack, Cub third baseman, is shown here sliding safely into second base as the Chicago club defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 5, yesterday in the second game of their series in Chicago. Hack was safe at second, after walking, when Arky Vaughan, Pirate shortstop, dropped the ball. The umpire is Goetz.

Bellville Host to Freddies, Butler Plays at Mt. Gilead

Games Involving Madison, Shelby Teams Headline Friday Night's Grid Schedule.

ONLY two daylight high school football games are on tap for fans in this vicinity Friday, but both promise plenty of action.

The afternoon games will find Fredericktown attempting to stop the undefeated Bellville club at Bellville and Butler at Mt. Gilead. The Freddies have won one and lost one, but it is doubtful whether they are in the same class with Coach Royd Hodges' men.

Butler has come along rapidly under their new coach, Bob Burgett, and should offer the Indians a busy afternoon.

Butler will be strengthened by the return of Tackle Bob Kunkle and End Bob Boals, who were on the casualty list. Coach Burgett said today that Wendell Ward has been shifted to fullback and Dick Bauman to half. Jack Wilson will probably replace McFarland at a halfback and Red Harris may start at a tackle Friday. The left end post is an open fight between Dave Grubb, Floyd McFarland and Harold Hall.

* * *

Heading Friday's nocturnal schedule are the games involving the Madison Rams and Shelby Whippets.

Madison goes to Crestline Friday night to engage a new foe, while Shelby, with an uncrossed goal line, is host to Mt. Vernon in an opening N. C. O. conference game.

Although defeated by Galion, one of the stronger N. C. O clubs, Crestline is expected to offer the Rams their first test of the year Friday. Madison scored 129 points in its first two games.

The game at Shelby's Skiles field will go a long way toward determining the N. C. O. crown. The Whippets stack up as one of the best Shelby teams in recent years, and if they can get by Mt. Vernon, they may go all the way to the title. Mt. Vernon's only defeat was a 7 to 0 setback by Newark last week.

* * *

Another N. C. O. league tussle Friday night takes Ashland to Galion. This game will knock one of the undefeated records of district teams out of existence. Both clubs have shown up brilliantly in early season contests.

Loudonville of the Mid-State league engages New London in an afternoon game in the Ashland county city Friday afternoon, while Bucyrus is host to Norwalk Friday night.

Thornton Moore Heads Net Players

Thornton Moore was reelected president of the Mansfield Tennis association at a meeting held in the city building last night. Frank Gadfield was reelected secretary-treasurer, and Janie Kuhn, publicity chairman.

Robert Enos, John Foltz, Vic Alderson, Dick Armold and Joe Laibach form the executive committee. Plans for the 1939 season were discussed.

MOOSE BOWLERS OPEN SEASON FRIDAY NIGHT

The Moose Home league bowlers will open their season at the Meder alleys at 8:45 p. m. Friday with six games. More teams may be added to the league after the season gets under way, according to President Art Hilborn. Brig Young is secretary of the league and Fred Berry, treasurer.

Murphy Shifts Lineup

Tyger Coach Offers Beer, Russell Chance to Win Regular Berths.

In an attempt to bolster the Tygers for their engagement with the Pioneers of Hammond, Ind., Clark high on Saturday, Prof. Murphy whipped up another concoction of lineup changes today as the Mansfield gridmen speeded up work on the practice field.

Offers Subs Chance.

Dissatisfied with the terminal play in Saturday's defeat by Massillon, Murphy today looked to a pair of substitutes to supply the improvement he seeks.

They are Russ Beer and Bill Russell, junior and senior, respectively. Both saw service in the Massillon encounter, and impressed Murphy with the possibility of their development into regular endmen.

Russell, in a brief appearance in the defeat, gave the best performance of defensive end play of any member of Tygers Murphy employed in the attempt to halt the wild visitors.

The expected promotion of Beer and Russell to starting assignments against Hammond will probably result in the shifting of Mike Horvath to a tackle post.

Murphy also added more fire to the battle for the guard posts this week when he inserted Marshall Smith into the midst of the fight. Smith, possessing a lot of speed, will help to solve the guard faults which cropped out in the last tilt, Murphy believes.

While the position is new to Smith, Murphy regards the junior as an A-1 prospect, and believes he will fit into the new scheme of things nicely if he can learn to block. Bob Lantz and Ed Kinkel, a pair of sophomores, are also helping to keep the guard fight hot.

Running Improves.

More pleasing to Murphy than anything else has been the apparent improvement in the Mansfield running attack. Improvements in blocking and speed are responsible, according to the coach.

The Tyger leader is preparing the team with routine drills this week as the style of play Hammond will feature Saturday remains a secret. Hammond was not scouted at any of its games and all that Murphy knows about the Pioneers is that they have won two tilts and have a crack halfback in Frank Shimala.

Gate Prices Unchanged For Hammond, Ind., Game.

No change will be made in admission prices for Saturday's Stadium field football game between the Tygers and Hammond, Ind., Clark, Mansfield high athletic officials announced today. Adult admission price will be 75 cents, the same as for the Massillon game.

A 50 cents admission price will prevail for the other home games on the schedule, they said.

Tygers' Foe to Drill At Stadium Friday.

Mansfield football fans will be offered a chance to see Hammond, Ind., Clark Pioneers taper off for Saturday's game with the Tygers at Stadium field Friday afternoon. The Hammond team, which is making the trip by bus, will arrive in the city in the afternoon and will work out at the Tygers' lair at 5 p. m.

Pace League With 2700 Totals

THE 24-TEAM Westinghouse bowling league season got under way at the Meder alleys last night with the Appliance Machines and Productions setting the pace.

The Machines pounded out a 2718 total for top honors, with the Productions only four pins behind.

The only 600 total was a 616 by Walter Fensch of the Merchandise Service, who finished his string with a 230.

Adamick Treated for Serious Head Injury After Knockout

DETROIT—(INS)—Jimmy Adamick, the punching plowboy Jack Kearns called "another Dempsey," was in "immediate danger" with a cerebral contusion today after he was knocked out in two rounds last night by Roscoe Toles, colored heavyweight fighter.

And the Midland mauler, built up into a championship contender, may never fight again. Dr. S. L. Grekin, of the Michigan board of athletic control, said "it is impossible to say now whether or not he will ever be able to fight again."

At the same time Ford hospital records show Adamick was treated for a head injury six times in the last 10 days. Kearns, who promoted last night's fight and who also had a part of Adamick, said: "I knew the kid was hurt in training. He thought it was sinus."

Kearns, who managed Jack Dempsey through the major part of his career, said he thought something was wrong when Adamick weighed in at 186 pounds yesterday, six pounds below his normal fighting weight. Adamick assured him, however, that he felt fine, Kearns said.

Adamick, knocked down three times and saved by the bell in the first round, was knocked out after 40 seconds of sparring in the second.

He failed to land a solid punch on Toles, who calmly jabbed him with a left and crossed with a smashing right at will. Toles connected with every punch he threw.

Seconds in Adamick's corner failed to revive him in the ring and were forced to carry him to his dressing room. He was still unconscious when he arrived at the hospital.

Indians, Hose Close Series

Hudlin, Rigney to Go to Mound in Finale.

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The Cleveland Indians, firmly riveted in third place in the American league, met the Chicago White Sox today for the last time this season after the Sox took the second game of the series, 12 to 11, in a slugging match Wednesday.

The veteran Willis Hudlin was due to pitch for the Indians and young John Rigney for the Sox.

A spectacular catch by Outfielder Mike Krevich of a long, hard-hit fly by Cleveland's Julius Solters, plus some loose defensive play by the Tribe enabled the visitors to outlast Cleveland yesterday. The Sox pounded 18 hits off four Cleveland hurlers. The Tribe is three games behind second-place Boston with four games to play.

ASHLAND BEAGLE CLUB HOLD FIELD DAY SUNDAY

The Ashland County Beagle club will hold its first field trial of the season at the club grounds west of Paradise on the Cliff Faulk farm Sunday. Clifford Latter, reporter for the club, announced that a large entry is expected. Trials will start at 9 a. m. Lunch will be served on the grounds. Arrows will point out the directions to the farm, Latter said.

Joins Squad Despite Overloaded Schedule.

ASHLAND—Another new recruit has been added to the numerically inadequate Ashland college football squad, raising the squad to a membership of 20, with the College of Wooster looming ahead on the football schedule for next Saturday.

Eugene Beekley, Ashland senior, is the newest joiner of Coach Tony Lonero's determined but limited players. Like other late comers to the squad, Beekley is impelled only by his desire to help out in a bad situation for he is holding down a full time job in addition to carrying a full schedule of studies. He works for a local industry from 1 a. m. to 7 a. m. and now with football practice added to his overloaded schedule he isn't able to figure out when he's going to get any sleep.

Ferebee Ends Golf Grind, Wins Wagers

NEW YORK—(INS)—J. Smith Ferebee, 31-year-old Chicga broker, today was the king of marathon golfers without dispute. In an unrivalled golfing feat, he completed 600 holes of trans-continental golf after four days of play in eight cities.

By completing the gruelling test within specified limitations, Ferebee collected about $10,000 in bets and a mortgage on a Virginia plantation whose value he placed at $50,000. Altogether about $100,000 rode on the marathon completed under floodlights at Westbury, L. I., last night.

Ferebee started the grind last Sunday at Los Angeles. Then between rounds—144 holes daily with 72 each in two different cities—the Chicago sportsman sped by airplane across the continent. Phoenix, Kansas City, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Chicago, Philadelphia and then New York watched the marathoner carve another chapter of links history. Complying with a stipulation that all rounds were to be played under 100, Ferebee finished with a total of 2,860 strokes.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Tongue Is Mightier Than Sword. By Harold Gray

ANNIE AND I WERE IN THE ORCHARD - I HEARD EVERY WORD - I'VE HAD YOU WRONG - WELL, NOT ANY MORE - SO NOW I'M GOING TO CUT OUT YOUR GIZZARD AND FEED IT TO YOU, ACE -
NO! NO! WAIT!
WAIT FOR WHAT, MY GLIB-TONGUED FRIEND? YOU TOLD GUDGE OF THE HALF-MILLION DOLLAR LOAD - THAT JACK WOULD BE TAKING IT THROUGH ALONE, AND WHEN - YES-
9-29-38
YOU TOLD GUDGE NOT TO KILL JACK IN HIS OFFICE, BUT TO GET HIM ON THE ROAD--- MAKE IT LOOK LIKE AT TEMPTED ROBBERY--- A SURE GET-AWAY -
IF GUDGE'S KILLERS TRIED IT AT THE OFFICE THEY WOULD SUCCEED -
NO ONE COULD STOP THEM - BLOCK THEM THERE AND THEY'D GET HIM ELSEWHERE - BUT LET THEM ATTACK THAT TRUCK--- SHANGHAI--- PLEASE! TRUST ME - LET ME HANDLE THIS IN MY OWN WAY -
HMM-M YOU SURE CAN TALK -

I COULDN'T GO TO SLEEP, PAM - JUST HAD TO WAIT TO HEAR ALL ABOUT WHAT HAPPENED
WELL - WE WENT TO THE GRAND-ASTORIA FOR DINNER, - A RICH, BEAUTIFUL DINING ROOM, AND THE MOST WONDERFUL DINNER I EVER ATE! - EVERYBODY SO DEFERENTIAL AND ATTENTIVE TO MR. PAIGE - JUMPING TO DO HIS EVERY BIDDING!
- AND HE - OH, HE WAS SO KIND AND ENTERTAINING - MADE ME FEEL PERFECTLY AT EASE - I JUST ENJOYED IT ALL!
DID HE ASK YOU TO CALL HIM, KEITH?
9-29
OH, NO, NOTHING LIKE THAT! - THEN AFTER DINNER WE WENT TO RIDE IN THAT BIG, LUXURIOUS CAR, AND TALKED - AND TALKED - AND PRETTY SOON IT WAS TIME TO COME HOME!
EVIDENTLY A VERY PLEASANT EVENING; STILL, PAM COULDN'T FALL ASLEEP RIGHT AWAY THAT NIGHT!
AFTER ALL, IT MUST BE PRETTY GRAND TO BE ABLE TO - COMMAND ALMOST ANYTHING IN THE WORLD YOUR HEART DESIRES!

LEADING ISSUES CLIMB AS WAR SCARE LIGHTENS

Munich Meeting of Europe's 'Big Four' Helps to Keep Market Cheerful.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The war scare appeared to have lost much of its influence in today's stock market and leading issues egged up fractions to a point or more at the best.

In favor were Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, American Telephone, Kennecott, American Can, Du Pont, General Electric, Eastman Kodak, Phillip Morris and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Meeting of Europe's "big four" to try to work out a peace plan helped keep Wall Street sentiment moderately cheerful.

Foreign markets exhibited strength. Bonds here recorded additional improvement. Grains dipped and other commodities were a bit mixed. The London gold price was cut the equivalent of about 50 cents an ounce following the sharp run-up yesterday. The principal foreign currencies were only slightly ahead.

Studied were the figures of the Engineering News-Record which indicated construction awards for the current week would top the corresponding period last year by 16 per cent, but would register a decline of some 40 per cent from the preceding week.

A further decrease in bank clearings, as summarized by Dun & Bradstreet from activities in 22 cities, tended to dim recovery spirits. For the week ended yesterday, the aggregate was off 23.1 per cent from the preceding week and 11.8 per cent under the like 1937 week.

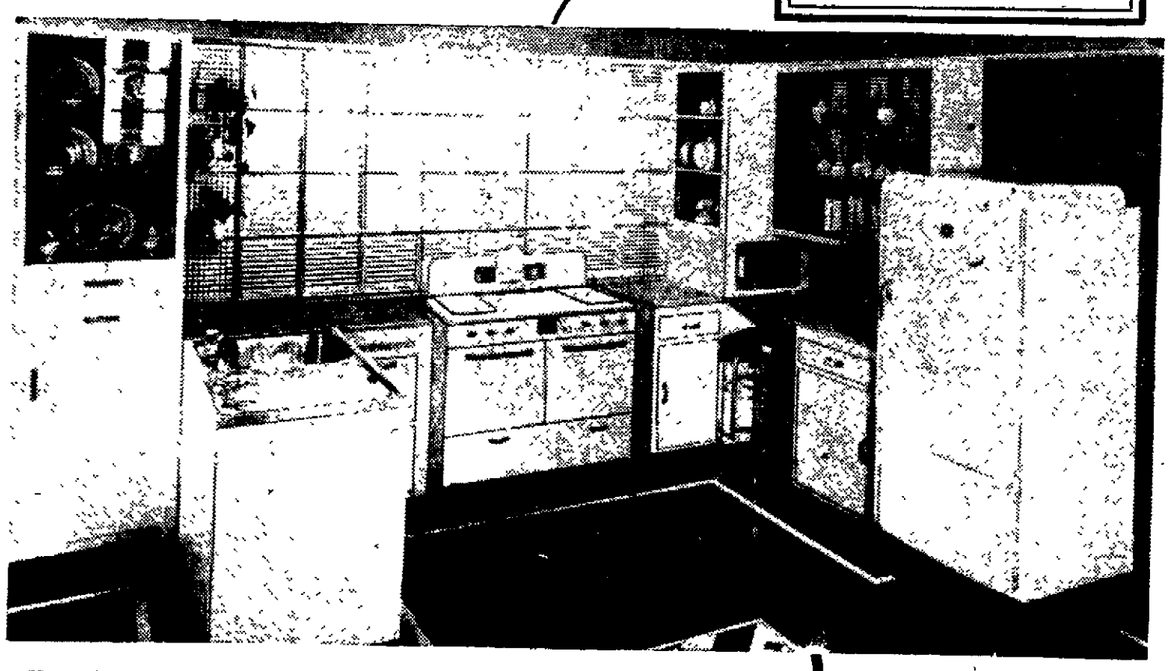
Swing

Swing into the wondrous, magic room of easier work, better meals with matched kitchen sets. It's the smartest, newest idea in kitchen planning! AND AGAIN IT'S GAS EQUIPMENT SETTING THE NEW STYLES . . . THE STANDARD OF EFFICIENCY.

If all the world's a stage, then many a modern woman in the role of chief cook and homemaker is playing her part in a dingy, incongrous kitchen setting. When the same room is modernized and decorated attractively as a culinary theater, it becomes an easy, pleasant and interesting place in which to work.



Your dreams of a lovely modern kitchen can become a reality today at unusual savings and on easy terms. A modern gas range, and gas refrigerator, aided and abetted by the many time and labor gas heat appliances will open up untold possibilities for your dream kitchen.

Modern GAS Appliances Are EASY TO OWN--Convenient to USE--Economical to Use

Plan your new home or the remodeling of the old one around modern gas appliances for smarter appearance, for greater convenience and economy and because they are easily purchased on a budget plan. Visit the Gas Company offices tomorrow and view the modern 1938 Gas Appliances.

$30,000 ESTATE NAMED IN NEW COURT ACTION

2 Organizations Deprived of Share, Oppose Distribution to 118, Ask Rehearing.

The $30,000 estate of the late Jacob Flowers of Sandusky township, apparently settled a month ago, was involved in court proceedings again today.

A motion for a new hearing of a suit contesting the will had been filed in probate court by Atty's. H. M. Rust, Mansfield, and O. W. Kennedy, Bucyrus, representing two organizations which were deprived of a share of the estate by a Supreme court ruling.

Cite Technicalities.

In their motion, Attys. Rust and Kennedy contend that Probate Judge C. J. Anderson did not have the necessary parties in court when he ordered distribution of the estate to 118 heirs of Mr. Flowers in 14 states last month. Other technicalities are cited by the attorneys who represent the Good Samaritan hospital at Galion and the Methodist Children's home at Worthington.

The Ohio Supreme court last May ruled out Mr. Flowers' will which bequested the estate to three religious institutions and the Mansfield Salvation army after Mrs. Flowers' death.

Mr. Flowers died in 1918 and his widow in 1933. Court disputes repeatedly held up settlement of the estate, which is made up largely of a 125-acre farm in Sandusky township and three properties in Galion. The Richland Trust company, Mansfield, is administrator.

IRWIN RETURNS FOR TWO TALKS

Cleveland Columnist Speaks to Club Women and Delano Lodge Here Monday.

Spencer D. Irwin, Cleveland Plain Dealer columnist and former Mansfield newspaperman, will deliver two addresses in Mansfield Monday when he returns to the city for the second time in six months.

"The Last of Free Europe" will be the subject of his talk before a joint luncheon meeting of the Conversational, Cosmopolitan, Sappho, Journey, Round Table, Tourist, Travelers and Victorian clubs at 1 p. m. at the Westbrook Country club.

Appearing at the Delano lodge hall at 8 p. m. under the auspices of the educational committee of the lodge, his topic will be "Democracy at the Crossroads."

Last April in his address here Irwin described Czechoslovakia, which is the center of the present European crisis, as "Europe's No. 1 Danger Spot." He is expected to enlarge on his predictions in his talks here Monday.

Irwin, a student of foreign affairs and author of the weekly column interpreting international events, "Behind the Foreign News" is the only American newspaperman ever awarded the Officer's Cross of the Order of the White Lion by the Czech government.

The presentation was made by President Eduard Benes for Irwin's journalistic work in behalf of the democracy.

7,500 TO GET WATER BILLS

West Side To Receive Semi-Annual Statements Saturday.

Approximately 7,500 west side water customers will receive their sewer rental bills along with their water bills Saturday, Fred E. Lingafelter secretary of the water, garbage and sewer departments said today.

The statements totaling $58,700, will be placed in the mails tomorrow. Payments are due at the office of the water department in the city building between Oct. 1 and Oct. 15.

Of the total amount of the billing, Lingarelter said, approximately 80 per cent or $36,000 represented the water billing while $12,700 was for sewer rental.

TEACHERS HOLD FIRST MEETING

Association Hears Rev. Roller As It Opens Season Monday.

The first meeting of the Mansfield City Teachers' association for the new school year will be held Monday afternoon in the Senior high school auditorium.

Guest speaker will be Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. During the meeting officers for the new year and delegates to the state teachers convention will be elected.

Robert Y. Davis, teacher at Hedges school is president of the group.

ICE AGE LEAVES SCIENCE DATA

Ancient Minnesota Cave and Bones Suggest Race of 20,000 Years Ago.

(By United Press)

ST. PAUL — Discovery of an ancient cave and bones by WPA workers near here has led scientiests to suggest that Pleistocene man may have lived in what is now Minnesota 20,000 years ago.

The old cave, filled with rubble, was found high in the side of a Mississippi river cliff. Workmen dug out skeletal remains which Dr. Louis H. Powell, curator of the St. Paul Institute Museum, identified as those of two giant beavers, long extinct.

Dr. Powell said the beavers lived during the so-called ice age before the last glaciation melted away from Minnesota—some 10,000 to 20,000 years ago.

Dr. Clinton R. Stauffer, University of Minnesota geologist, found a small bone splinter while inspecting the cave, which he said may have been used by ancient man as a scraper or weapon of some sort.

The geologist said the large bear-shaped beavers under ordinary circumstances would not have lived in a cave high in the side of a cliff.

Discovery of the cave also might force scientists to change their concept of the course the Mississippi followed during the last glacial age. It has been theorized that the present course of the river here is comparatively new, cut out since the last ice melted.

Dr. Powell pointed out that locating the remains of a glacial animal in a cave of a river gorge which was not supposed to exist when the animal was seems to indicate the gorge is older than it was supposed.

It is thought that the Mississippi's predecessor, the glacial river, Warren, followed another course, probably east of St. Paul.

CHEERS BUSINESS

River Freight Traffic Makes Biggest Advance In Year.

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— River shipments, usually an index of business conditions, are on the upgrade with the most decided advance in more than a year.

Shipments from this port down the Ohio last month totaled 885,650 tons, an increase of 130,950 tons over July. The figure for August also was an increase of 10,450 tons over March, the previous banner month of 1938.

Book of the Week

"THE DOOR OF LIFE," by Enid Bagnold; (Morrow; $2.50); "THE JOYFUL DELANEYS," by Hugh Walpole; (Doubleday, Doran; $2.50); "REBECCA," by Daphne du Maurier; (Doubleday, Doran; $2.50).

* * *

THE bitter determination of the publishers to issue nothing at all through the summer, and to crowd all the good material they can find into the fall, has made it impossible for either the public or the reviewer to keep up with the stream of good novels. Three will be out this week.

Enid Bagnold's "The Door of Life," is by no means the book "National Velvet" was, but it deserves more careful reading than this department could give it. It's about the effect of the birth of a child upon the mother, and upon a household—indeed, the influence reaches even farther than that. It is much too "sensitive" in a way; one grows impatient with all the probing around. And it is certainly not a man's book.

Hugh Walpole has got himself a title and a comfortable fortune by writing his standard type of novel over and over. This time he does a romance of a sort, but it is not quite like those he has been doing all through the years.

It's about a family who face, very, very gayly, the march of poverty. They laugh when normal people would weep, just because they are Delaneys. In fact, the novel is called "The Joyful Delaneys." Their house is about to be taken from them, even though it is full of roomers admitted to stave off the end.

There area lot of people in the book, and as usual Sir Hugh keeps them separate, makes them likeable, works them out in the end plausibly. Actually the only difficulty this reader had was with the super-English joyfulness of those dratted Delaneys.

Daphne du Maurier has dug deeper into humanity in "Rebecca" than in "Jamaica Inn." The new novel is mostly atmosphere, but atmosphere more expertly handled and more reasonable. It is about the influence of Rebecca, dead eight months when the story opens, upon her successor in the great house of Manderley—the influence of Rebecca, that is, and Rebecca's belongings, her people and the aura which she almost seems to have left behind. Miss du Maurier has included suspense, a love story, many surprises and a dash of melodrama. A good recipe.

FOUND INTACT

Workman's Lunch Fell Into Wall 38 Years Ago.

MARLIN, Tex.—(INS)—About 38 years ago, a workman or picnicker of Marlin didn't get the tasty lunch prepared for him, it was learned recently.

Loving hands prepared a bread-and-preserve sandwich, a banana, a portion of cereal and other food.

It was tidily wrapped in a paper sack—and that's the way it was, untouched by rodents or insects, when it was found where it apparently fell into a space between walls inside the building. The house had been built about the turn of the century and never altered since. Workmen tearing down the building found the lunch intact.

A total of 19,234 Americans arrived in the United Kingdom during July of which 18,456 were on vacation and 778 on business.

E. W. COOK DIES WHILE IN AUTO NEAR GALION

Farmer Stricken by Heart Attack; Children Find Body in Car.

GALION — Edward William Cook, 67, of seven miles east of Bucyrus, R. F. D. No. 3, Galion, died suddenly Wednesday evening while sitting in his car.

He had been to Galion with his children, and because riding in the car usually exhausted him, he remained in the car while the children entered the home. They later discovered him dead, his body erect in the car. Death was believed due to a heart attack.

He was born in Whetstone township, Crawford county, west of Galion, March 29, 1871, the son of Henry and Lovina (Beach) Cook. His marriage, March 29, 1922, was to Olivia O. Cronenwett. She died Feb. 18, 1937.

Surviving are two daughters and two sons, Ruth, Helen, Edward and Herbert William, all at home, and one brother, John H. Cook, west of Galion.

He had lived in this vicinity all of his life, and was a farmer.

The body was brought to the Snyder funeral home where services will be held Saturday at 3:30 p. m. Rev. Beam, pastor of the First Reformed church of Galion, will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

ATTEND FUNERAL

GALION—Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stevenson and son, Clayton, of Galion, and also their son, Foster Stevenson, of Shelby, attended funeral services Monday at Forest for Mr. Stevenson's mother, Mrs. Margaret Ann Stevenson, of Forest, 81, who died last Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. T. Rockwell, of Wilmington. Other children surviving are Raymond Stevenson of Dallas, Tex., and Frank Stevenson of Iberia. The husband, James, also survives.

HURT IN FIGHT WITH PICKETS

Five, Denied Chance to Return to Work, Taken to Hospitals.

SHREVEPORT, La.—(U.P.)—Five men were taken to hospitals today after a general fight which broke out when drivers of the Shreveport Ice Delivery company attempted to break a three-weeks-old picket line and return to work.

Hospital attendants said none of the injured was in serious condition.

Union recognition was the only issue, according to American Federation of Labor organizers. Manufacturers, after the fight, again notified the city council they still rejected union recognition.

2,000 ATTEND BUCYRUS RALLY

Democrats in Crawford Hear Address by Sawyer, Other State Candidates.

BUCYRUS—The largest political rally ever held in Crawford county brought more than 2,000 Democrats to the county fairgrounds Wednesday night to hear Charles Sawyer, candidate for governor, and nearly all of the state ticket representatives.

The rally began shortly after 5 o'clock and continued until late Wednesday night.

Sandwiches and coffee were served in the horticultural building by a corps of more than 50 Democratic women workers between 5 and 8 o'clock, when the speaking program began.

Sawyer, whose talk was brief because he was scheduled to appear at another meting later in the evening, reiterated that the charges that he is associated with the Communists is "ridiculous."

"The best evidence that I can offer against this charge," he said, "is that I served in the American army during the war for two years. This should be sufficient proof that I stand for the institutions of free government."

Of his opponent, John Bricker, he again charged that Bricker is "bossed" by Ed Schorr, state Republican chairman.

He also repeated his promise to state employes that "I do not care whether you voted for me or against me in the primary election, when I am governor I will see that you get a fair deal."

Sawyer was introduced by Robert Moulton of Galion. Judge C. U. Ahl served as chairman of the meeting.

Other speakers included Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt, Judge Gorman of the Supreme court, Secretary of State Kennedy; State Treasurer Knisely and local and district candidates.

WILLARD HEARS SAWYER TONIGHT

Gubernatorial Candidate to Talk at Democratic Rally.

WILLARD — Charles Sawyer, Democratic candidate for governor, will address members of the Huron county Democratic club at 6:30 p. m. today at the Methodist church here.

Other speakers are Stephen M. Young, congressman-at-large from Ohio, Carl Weygant, chief justice of the Ohio supreme court; Judge William Feisinger, Congressman John McSweeney and Mayor E. L. Wolff, president of the club, who will preside at the rally. Other state and local candidates will be present.

Music will be furnished by the Brown orchestra of Willard. At 9 p. m. Sawyer and other candidates are scheduled to speak at the Attica fair.

Ribbon Winner In Horse Show

—News-Journal Photo.

Virginia Rose, a shapely dappled-gray mare of the Raemelton stables, will be one of the local horses shown at the horse show which will be held Sunday afternoon at the Frank B. Black estate, Marion avenue road. The Virginia Rose won the three-gaited combination and the three-gaited class ribbons at the Franklin county fair this year, and was one of the top horses at the Delaware fair. She will be shown in three classes Sunday, with Jimmy Hardin, her trainer, shown above, in the saddle. Tickets and boxes for the show, which is being sponsored by Raemelton Riding club, are on sale at the Franklin Finance company office and Tawse's drug store.

DIES AT AKRON

Mrs. Sarah Jameson, Former Mansfielder, Stricken.

Mrs Sarah P. Jameson, 87, a former Mansfield resident, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. G. Bovard, in Akron today.

A member of the First Presbyterian church for 72 years and prominent in Mansfield civic and church affairs for many years, Mrs Jameson resided in Akron for eight years.

She was born in Hoosick Falls, N. Y., in 1851, and resided in Bennington, Vt., and Harrisburg, Pa., before moving to Mansfield in 1866.

Surviving are her daughter and three sons, Walter of Mansfield, George of Chicago and Prof. Russell P. Jamesson of Oberlin. She was the widow of Charles B. Jameson.

Funeral services will be held at the Finefrock funeral home at 3.30 p. m Friday with burial in the Mansfield cemetery.

POINTS TO NEED FOR STABILITY

Roemer Says Steel Pay Not In Accord With Price Levels

Henry A. Roemer, president of the Pittsburgh Steel company, told stockholders of the firm in Pittsburgh today that steel wages "cannot be maintained unless there be compensating advances in the price of steel products."

In his annual report, Associated Press dispatches from Pittsburgh said, Roemer declared there must be stability of prices to have stability in wages.

He said bookings of new business in September was ahead of July and August but "due to unsettled conditions in this country, and throughout the world, future prospects are uncertain."

Roemer is also chairman of the board of directors of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company.

OPEN CAMPAIGN

LOUDONVILLE—Pennsylvania railroad officials and Loudonville business and professional leaders will speak at an open meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at 8 p. m. today in the high school auditorium as the organization opens its fall campaign for members.

Speakers will include R. C. Miller, Pittsburgh, general superintendent of the railroad; D. K Chase, Pittsburgh, superintendent of the eastern division; Glenn Crow, general sales manager of the Fixible company, Loudonville, R. A. Momm, president of the Chamber of Commerce; and C. E. Budd, secretary of the organization; and R. F. McMullen, superintendent of schools.

The session will be open to the public, Chamber of Commerce officials said.

ANCIENT ORGAN

Musical Instrument Made in 1443 Shown in Nurnberg.

NURNBERG, Germany — (INS) —In a secluded corner of the famous St. Sebals's church here stands the only remaining Gothic organ in the world, dating from the years 1443-44. The organ is now being entirely reconditioned. New pipes and mechanical equipment will make the organ capable of producing the loveliest of church music.

THEATER

THE Arkansas Traveler will be streamlined for the production of that name, which Paramount will make in Bob Burns' home state. Arkansas citizens, it seems, are eager to have the world know that the state is modern and progressive, and it was they who induced Paramount to "streamline" the Traveler. They want to destroy the old conception of the Arkansan and instead bring him up to date. Practically every force in the state will co-operate in making the film. Bob Burns, Irvin Cobb, Fay Painter, John Beal and Jean Parker, all "folksy" players, head the cast.

New Penner Film.

A modern Svengali, whose hypnotic powers make a sensational bareback rider of a timid young man who is afraid of horses motivates the comedy action in "I'm From The City." Joe Penner, who would seem a likely subject for a hypnotist, inasmuch as his mind isn't all cluttered up with thoughts, plays the rider. Richard Lane, who plays Droopy in the Penner Sunday night broadcasts, and Lorraine Kreuger are in the cast of the film which is current at the Madison.

Introduces Newcomer.

John Payne, a handsome and likely newcomer who combines the personalities of James Stewart and Tyrone Power, was pretty well kicked around Hollywood before Warner Brothers gave him a break in the leading role in "Garden of the Moon." Dick Powell was slated for the role but refused it and it fell to Payne Payne is the husband of Anne Shirley. The picture, at the Ohio, is a musical with a story.

Marines Coming.

The Marines go into film action again in "Come On Leathernecks," a Majestic theater feature for Friday and Saturday in which Richard Cromwell follows in the footsteps of his father, Robert Warwick, a colonel in the marines. But not before he has had some of the egotism knocked out of him. Marsha Hunt is seen in the role of the young plantation owner who complicates matters. The second film is "The Colorado Trail" with Charles Starrett.

PLANS PROGRAM

Liederkranz Sponsors Fall Entertainment Saturday.

A musical concert and dance Saturday evening at Germania hall, Fourth and Main streets, will open the fall season of entertainment for the Mansfield Liederkranz.

The entertainment will include choral and orchestra music, tap dancing numbers, and a one-act play.

Novelty tap dancing numbers will be presented by Betty Wynn and Margaret Kraus, students of the Herrick Twins Dance studio. Al Kraus and his orchestra will play two concert numbers.

A cast of four will stage a one-act play, "The Dangerous Age," by J. Platzheim. Cast in the play are Richard Uhde, Miss Rose Dekreli, Mrs. Francis Rehberg and Gustav Rehberg. Following the play, dancing will be held with music being furnished by Al Kraus and his orchestra. The entertainment is open to the public.

STILL PROBING

Grand Jurors to Be in Session Till Friday.

Court attaches today said the county grand jury probably would not complete its first session in the September court term until Friday morning.

The jury convened early yesterday to consider nearly 25 cases, largest number to come before a county jury in many months.

About 50 witnesses were subpoenaed to appear before the jury.

HOPE OF PEACE BRIGHTENS AT MUNICH PARLEY

British Submit New Plan of Occupation, Germans Show Favor to It.

ed that correspondents come to the Fuehrerhaus, only an hour after resumption of the talks was scheduled.

Expected Agreement.

As the German delegation saw it the following was likely to be the final outcome of the negotiations of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, Prime Minister Chamberlain, Premier Daladier and Premier Mussolini.

1. The German army, with the approval of other big powers, would enter only the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia as a demonstration of their cession on Oct. 1.

2. In the so-called doubtful areas, in which population is divided about equally between Sudeten Germans and Czechs, contingents of British, French and Italian armies would safeguard a plebiscite, from which there would be no appeal.

3. Plebiscite also would be conducted in Czechoslovakia in which the population is preponderantly Polish or Hungarian.

The occupation of the Sudetenland would be gradual.

A German government spokesman did not know at the moment whether foreign armies — either Polish for the Polish speaking districts or Hungarians for the Hungarian areas, or British-French-Italian forces—would supervise the plebiscites there.

4. The results of all plebiscites would be binding on the Czechoslovak government.

5. Germany would become a coguarantor with the other powers concerned of the independence of what then would be left of Czechoslovakia.

6. Hitler will not insist on the resignation of President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia.

A German spokesman made it plain, however, that Germany expects him to resign voluntarily. "Benes already has his money in Switzerland," he said sarcastically.

7. Germany will reaffirm her guarantee, given by Hitler in his address in the Sportspalast in Berlin Monday night, that he will make no further territorial demands on the European continent.

Hurry To Meeting.

Earlier from train and plane with scarcely a pause the somber-faced Premier Mussolini of Italy, the steady-eyed Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain and the aggressive, squat Premier Daladier of France hurried to the glistening Fueherhaus.

There Germany's supreme leader awaited them for the next, perhaps last, hand of this tremendous contest.

But Europe, while hoping for peace, continued to prepare for war. Britain's mighty fleet was mobilized, France decreed power for Daladier to effect immediate complete mobilization and as this was written Hitler's motorized legions were rolling toward the frontiers

Once at the Fueherhaus the four took a hurried luncheon, and shortly before 2 p. m. (8 a. m. EST)—presumably the expiration of Hitler's postponement of mobilization—they were at the conference table.

Their task was to find means of satisfaction for Hitler and his Sudeten German followers, a lease on life for Czechoslovakia and peace for all this gun-studded continent and perhaps for the whole world.

Deadline Set Aside.

Hitler's latest deadline was laid aside for the talks. Yesterday Chamberlain revealed to parliament that the fuehrer had announced his decision to take action at 2 p. m. yesterday but in response to Mussolini's urgings had postponed mobilization for 24 hour.

Before the fateful talks began Hitler conferred privately with Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, head of Germany's air force, and Rudolf Hess, Nazi chief of party affairs.

With the conferees were Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, and Joachim Van Ribbentrop, German foreign minister. Language difficulties were handled by Dr. Paul Schmidt, Hitler's interpreter, and Alexis Leger, French secretary general to the foreign office.

Chamberlain Arrives Last.

Chamberlain, the last to arrive, reached Munich by plane at 11:50 a. m. (5:50 a. m. EST).

Premier Daladier of France landed in a special plane at 5:17 a. m. (EST) and was greeted by Von Ribbentrop

Premier Mussolini arrived with Hitler, who met his colleague of the Rome-Berlin axis at the Kufstein station and talked for 70 minutes with him the rest of the way here. They arrived at 10:50 a. m. (4:50 a. m. EST).

Chamberlain received a tremendous ovation from a large crowd as he stepped from a British airways liner a half hour after Daladier landed.

Cheering crowds greeted each arrival. Rudolf Hess, Hitler's deputy, went to the Brenner pass, in the Italian frontier, last night to give the Italian premier a personal welcome in Hitler's name.

Hitler Smiles, Duce Solemn.

Hitler smiled and Mussolini looked solemn as they walked to the station reception room, where they saw bronze statues of themselves amid flowers and red cloth background. Each wore the uniform of his respective movement.

High representatives of the German army, the Nazi party and the government were present. French and British flags, looking new, and Italian banners used in previous German-Italian funtions, decorated the station. All Munich was gay with decorations.

UGAKI RESIGNS

Jap Minister Differs With Army Over China Policy.

TOKYO—(AP)—The resignation of Foreign Minister Gen. Kazushige Ugaki, who had differed with the army over China policy, was announced officially tonight.

General Ugaki, on the army retired list, long has been at odds with the dominant faction in the army over the general lines of imperial policy.

His appointment as foreign minister in the cabinet shakeup of last May 28 was considered an indication that Japan might follow a more moderate course with respect to the China war and relations with other powers.

His disagreement with the army over administration of the new China affairs board was considered the reason for his resignation.

The board, an extra-governmental organ, was designed to act as a liaison means between the government and the new Japanese-supported administrations in conquered Chinese territory. Under the present pattern the army would hold the balance of power.

HOLDS SCHOOLS FACE CLOSING IN FUND CRISIS

Dietrich Predicts 75 Per Cent to Close Doors If Assembly Doesn't Get Call.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — E. N. Dietrich, state director of education, predicted today that unless a special session of the legislature were called to provide school financing before Dec. 1, 75 per cent of the state's school districts would have to close on that date, throwing 30,000 teachers out of work.

'News to Me.'

Commenting on rumors that there would be no special session this year, Dietrich declared, "it's news to me. It will be a great disappointment to the school people of Ohio. At least 75 per cent of the school districts will not have sufficient money to operate after Dec. 1 because they cannot sell more notes.

"I have written to Governor (Martin L.) Davey concerning a special session and stating that the school foundation program was his child and hoping he'd take care of it."

Dietrich said he had received no reply.

The school foundation program, financed from cigaret sales, liquid fuel and intangible taxes, costs an estimated $50,000,000 a year. It is now about $16,000,000 "in the hole," and schools have been issuing short-term notes to finance current operations.

As the tax revenues become available, the schools have been paying off the old notes and issuing new ones, but Dietrich said this practice had gone about as far as possible, and credit would be exhausted in another two months

FACES COURT ON FORGERY CHARGE

SHELBY—Charged with forgery, Charles Bichl, 22, of Ashland, today was held by Shelby police awaiting appearance before Mayor D. B. Young's court. Bichl had been arrested Wednesday by Ashland police and held for the Shelby police. Affidavits had been signed here by managers of the Kennedy Clothing and Esquire stores where Bichl was reported to have passed bad checks. Police Chief Coffey said The checks totaled $15.

DISCUSS MARKET

Potato Growers Hold Special Meeting in Shelby.

SHELBY — Sixty-five potato growers representing 14 counties in Ohio were present for a special meeting this week at the farm bureau hall in this city to make plans for co-operative marketing this fall.

Principal speakers at the meeting were M. W. Baker, federal representative of the Ohio division of marketing; E. B. Tussing, potato specialist of Ohio State university; H. W. Smoots, general manager of the Ohio Farm Bureau; and L. L. Rummell, of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchanting.

H. M. Weston, head of the division of marketing of the Ohio Farm Bureau, presided at the meeting By unanimous vote of the county delegates, plans were set for another session at the farm bureau building in Shelby Oct. 17 when a report will be given by the delegates of the result of local meetings on the marketing problem.

Vegetable-fiber boards are being tested by the Bureau of Standards to see if they can withstand changes in temperature and moisture.

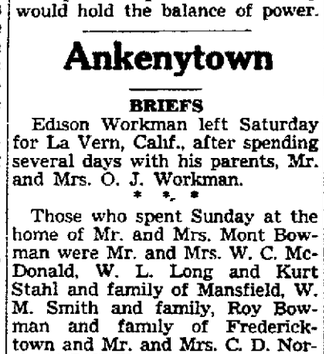
● One thousand men—from twenty-two states—were asked to try 3-year Old Quaker and state its worth. Their answers will astonish whiskey experts—bring joy to whiskey buyers.

For the average opinion of these 1,000 men rated 3-year Old Quaker worth $1.39 more per quart than its actual retail selling price.

If what these men say is true, Old Quaker 3-year-old offers you a saving of at least a dollar a quart. Try it and see if you agree—then we would be grateful for your frank opinion.

*Average price exactly $1.39 more a quart.



John A. Irwine of Ventnor, N. J., has tasted his drink of Old Quaker. Inquiring Reporter Anderson recorded his answer at close to "$4.00 a quart."

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1938.

Somehow the daylight-saving during the summer seems never to last through the winter.

There are all kinds of people—including those who take the garbage out for a ride, and then dump it along the road.

The average person listed in "Who's Who" was married at 27 and has "slightly less than two children"—which sounds more mathematical than practical.

President Roosevelt Speaks for Peace.

WHETHER immediate war in Europe can be averted, and a way found to remove the constant threat of conflict that has existed through the past twenty years, only the day to day happenings will disclose.

There is a ray of hope, however, in yesterday's occurrences and in today's conference in Munich.

If, as now appears, the message of President Roosevelt making urgent appeal for continuance of peaceful negotiations, served to soothe the angry passions that had become dominant in Europe during the past few days, a great service may have been performed for the nations of Europe and for the entire world

Couched in friendly language and carrying no more than America's sincere desire that settlement of differences be reached without resort to war, President Roosevelt made it clear, in his message to Chancellor Hitler and to many other nations, that the government of the United States "has no political involvements in Europe" and that he was not undertaking to pass on existing differences

"Present negotiations still stand open," said the President in his second message to Hitler "They can be continued if you will give the word . . . nothing stands in the way of widening their scope into a conference of all the nations directly interested in the present controversy . . ."

Then came announcement that Hitler had postponed mobilization of his army for invasion of Czechoslovakia . . . an invitation to Chamberlain, Daladier and Mussolini to meet with him today in Munich . . . an easing of tension that had gripped Europe and extended to America in recent days.

What will be the outcome of this conference? Europe, and the world, can only wait and hope.

Would Prepare Boys for Future Work.

EXPERIENCE and observation strengthen belief that chance enters largely into determining what a boy will become in later life—insofar as his work, and his success or failure, is concerned.

There are exceptions to this, of course, as in cases where a son follows in his father's footsteps in business or profession, or in instances where a child shows early liking and aptitude for some particular work.

More frequently, however, some apparently inconsequential happening may provide a starting point for what turns out to be congenial life-time employment—just as a first seemingly harmless intoxicating drink may wreck an otherwise promising career and produce a drunken bum.

Spread of an idea being presented by Sam Vining, of the sales department of Westinghouse, should be effective in giving a number of alert, ambitious and industrious boys a chance to make a start in some line of work in which they can develop increasing ability and earning power and in which their interest may be sufficient to finally lead to management or ownership.

This would also serve the purpose, as pointed out by Mr. Vining in his "one-man crusade," to inject new blood and a fresh viewpoint into some somnolent businesses, and make it possible for them to build for the future rather than resting on past laurels or thinking only of the present.

A little-considered element that has stood in the way of first jobs for young people just out of high school or college is the exaggerated ideas of earning ability evidenced by some of them, possibly induced by expensive habits acquired in school or college, coupled with a thought that immediate income must be sufficient to permit continuance of these habits.

There has been a long swing of the pendulum from the days of unpaid apprenticeship of a boy in a trade, or the $2 and $3 starting pay in office or store, to this time when an automobile and the cost of its upkeep becomes the chief concern of some boys who think that their first earnings should be sufficient to provide luxuries which they have come to regard as necessities.

When more boys—graduates of either college or high school—get the idea that the amount of pay at the start is not important, so long as the job opens opportunity to learn and advance, they will find it less difficult to "get going."

Assuming, of course, that they are willing to WORK, anxious to LEARN, and have sense enough to avoid the bad habits that make flops of fellows who could otherwise become top-notchers.

Hobby Exhibits In Store Windows.

HOBBY exhibits in a number of Mansfield store windows, as a part of Fall Display week, are attracting much attention—coupled with expressions of wonderment at the extent to which the cultivation of hobbies has extended through this city.

A trip through the business sections, with special attention to hobby displays, which will remain in store windows throughout this week, is well worthwhile. An idea is thus gained of the wide range of hobby possibilities and of the pleasure that can be derived from having some sort of hobby to occupy leisure time.

Now that the cocker spaniel has become the most popular breed of dogs, more people will probably find out that the name isn't "cockerel."

Ely Culbertson says five-suit bridge is already dead—and that fifth suit did have a tendency to interfere with conversation.

A movement is on foot to make a memorial of the old home of Jesse James. And, anyhow, Jesse was honest about it.

As nearly as can be learned, Ohio nudists are still a bare minority.

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Back of the army's plan to teach manufacturers how to make war materials is the dramatic story of an enlightening experience the country had in the last war while trying to equip itself with cannon.

When the United States entered the war, France, eager for early aid, agreed to disclose the secret of the famous "75," which is considered by artillery experts to be the best light artillery weapon ever invented. It was designed by French artillery officers in 1897 and except for minor changes it is the same gun today—devastatingly fast, accurate and dependable.

Germany captured hundreds of French 75's during the World war, but never could solve the mystery of their manufacture. The trick is known to only two countries—France and the United States—and to only a dozen trusted persons in each of these countries.

* * *

Secret In the Recoil.

THE secret lies in the recuperator or recoil mechanism. That is the intricate device that absorbs the shock of the explosion, checks the tube or barrel in its backward flight and quickly shoves it forward again to firing position without disturbing the aim of the gun.

The old style cannon, when fired, jumped high in the air and rolled back a dozen yards. It had to be rolled forward and sighted again for every shot. All modern artillery now has recoil mechanism, but none so good as "Mademoiselle 75." She can shove out six aimed shots a minute, or 24 shots from a battery of four guns.

The secret in 1917 was in the hands of a half dozen skilled mechanics at the Puteaux arsenal in France who put them together by hand. U. S. officials wanted to put the manufacture on a mass production basis. The French shrugged their shoulders, but promised to help. In an article in the American Legion monthly, Major Robert Ginsburgh, aide to the assistant secretary of war, Louis Johnson, outlines what happened.

To protect the secret, the French allowed each of its own mechanics to know only so much, but not all. There were no complete blueprints. The French made some but they were projected from an angle unfamiliar to American designers and had to be done over. A second set was scaled in meters and lettered in French while Americans worked in inches and spoke English. Weeks were passing.

* * *

Delayed by Nuts, Oil.

A SAMPLE recoil system was sent to the U. S. under heavy guard, accompanied by two French mechanics. But they knew only part of the mystery. By this time it was August, four months after U. S. entry into the war. In October, trusted U. S. mechanics and army officers were sent to France to study in the secret arsenal.

So cautious were the French that they allowed only one mechanic to enter at first, then others followed. By Feb. 2, 1918, they returned with full data and plans.

There was more delay. Nuts and bolts were threaded differently in France and tools were different. French experts insisted nothing should be changed. A special oil had to be found in America to fill the recoil mechanism.

U. S. mechanics ultimately built and assembled one gun by machine methods The French instructors had them take it down and assemble it by hand. Months had passed. U. S. artillery regiments were dependent on French manufacture which heroically supplied five guns a day.

On Nov. 1, 1918, eleven days before the armistice, the first gun was assembled. It worked. But it never fired a shot in the war.

Now the U. S. makes all its 75's. It has put them on rubber tires so they can be hauled across country at 30 miles an hour compared with the old speed of six. With improved ammunition and a higher angle of fire, the gun now shoots 13,000 yards, against 7,500 before. The secret recuperator, however, is the same.

That is the story of how long it took skilled American craftsmen to get on a war basis with a new weapon. The sample orders now being distributed by the army are designed to teach workmen in a few selected factories how to get started faster on such things as the new semi-automatic rifles, anti-aircraft guns, gas masks, searchlights and shells for Mademoiselle 75.

New Parking Meters.

After careful study, in which every factor and problem involved was given due consideration, Mayor Gessaman and his service director have selected and leased the type of parking meter to be installed in downtown Columbus.

It was a difficult and tedious task, listening to the talks and witnessing the demonstrations of the representatives of the scores of different meters. Every effort was made to avoid the mistakes other cities have made in hasty adoption of parking meters. The type finally selected for trial appears to offer the greatest flexibility in the way of service. The motorist may park 12 minutes for one cent, or an hour for five cents.

The meter control of parking is merely an experiment here, although it has been found highly satisfactory in many other large cities.—Ohio State Journal.

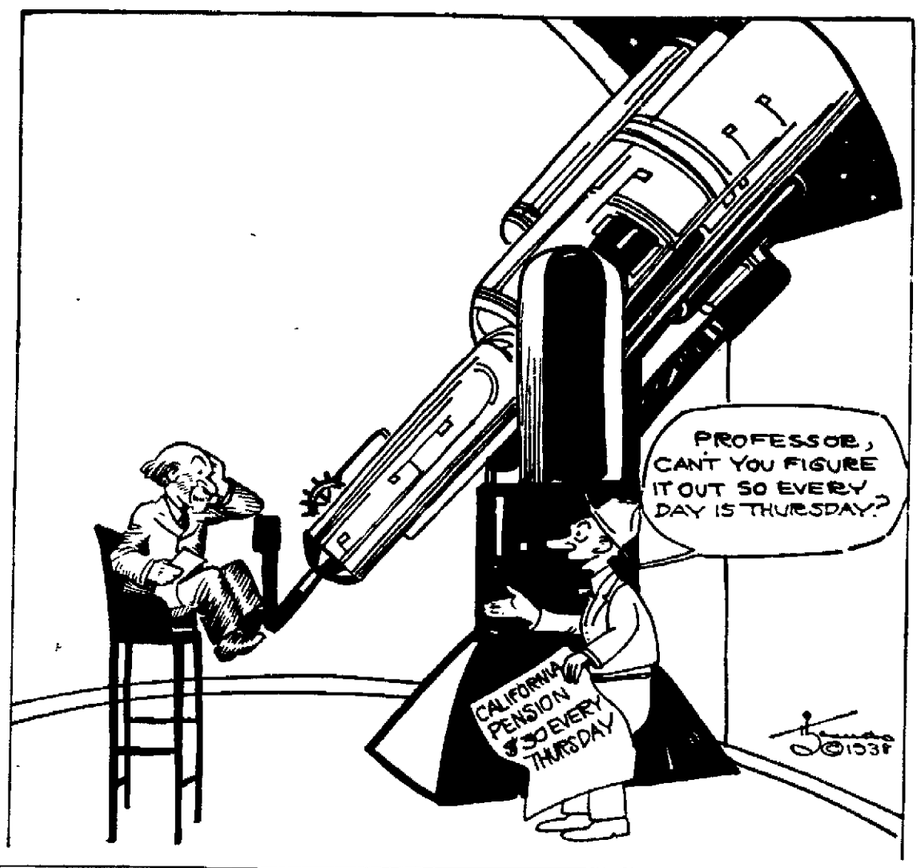
THERE'S NO HARM IN ASKING



Townsendites Oppose Ashbrook

Advocates of Fantastic Pension Plan Unite to Support Woodward.

VOTERS in the Seventeenth congressional district, of which Richland county is a part, should not regard lightly the fact that an advocate of the Townsend pension plan will appear on the November ballot as Republican nominee for congress from this district.

While this nomination was accomplished by a united effort of Republican and Democratic Townsendites voting the Republican ticket at the primaries on August 9, the fact remains that Walter B. Woodward, of Bellville, ardent adherent to the Townsend pension plan, will be the Republican opponent of present Democratic Congressman William A. Ashbrook at the November election.

The contest will therefore not be between a Republican and a Democrat, as would ordinarily be the case, but between an advocate of the $200 a month Townsend pension plan and an experienced, level-headed congressman who has long been noted for his liberal views on pensions but who recognizes the utter absurdity of the Townsend proposal and its related $30-every-Thursday pension fantasy.

Heretofore there has been mild tolerance on the part of many people toward Townsend plan proponents, general impression being that it was a harmless illusion that would soon run its course.

Time To Realize Danger.

No such lethargic attitude can longer be maintained when it involves even a bare possibility of sending to congress from this district a man whose sole claim to qualifications is based on his pledged support of a fantastic pension plan.

That this view is shared elsewhere in the district is evidenced by an editorial in the Coshocton Tribune, of which the following is a part:

Candidates for public office who advocate the Townsend plan fall into two general classes:

1. Those who are sincere.
2. Those who are insincere.

The sincere ones actually believe this fantastic scheme should be put into practice in the United States. They are so blissfully ignorant of economic realities that they cannot understand such a system would bring the nation to ruin and chaos in short order.

The insincere ones are merely after votes. They are unprincipled, conscienceless political mountebanks, willing to raise false hopes in aged men and women in order to further their own selfish ends. Some of them even collect money for "organization" from these poor, deluded people.

Now we have a Townsendite running for congress on the Republican ticket in the 17th Ohio district. He is Walter B. Woodward of Bellville who made his first appearance in Coshocton Wednesday night with a speech at Republican headquarters.

Charitable View.

The charitable view to take of Mr. Woodward is that he falls into the first class. Let's give him the benefit of the doubt. He's sincere, he means well—he just doesn't know any better.

"All of my life I have worked persistently and consistently for the Townsend plan," said Mr. Woodward in his Coshocton talk. Well, the Townsend plan, to the best of our knowledge, was never heard of until about four or five years ago.

Further evidence that Mr. Woodward doesn't know what it's all about is seen in his astonishing statement that the Townsend plan would "reduce taxes by 50 per cent."

As a matter of fact, it would impose the most staggering tax burden ever inflicted on any people since the dawn of history. This tax would be borne not only by wealthy people, by capitalists, as the Townsendites assert. It would be paid by laborers, farmers, professional people—everybody.

The load would be too heavy. Within a short time business and industry would collapse. The economic machine would be stalled until the tax was lifted. Unemployment would be general, poverty universal and the entire nation would suffer severe hardship, old and young alike.

Cruel Hoax.

But these things have been pointed out so many times it is useless to labor the point further. The Townsend plan is a fantasy, a cruel hoax on people in the twilight of life. The chances are it will never be given serious consideration in congress.

Mr. Woodward's nomination puts Republicans of the 17th district on the spot—a very uncomfortable spot. If they are capable of putting patriotism above politics, we believe they will openly repudiate this Townsendite and support the Democratic incumbent, William A. Ashbrook.

By and large, Mr. Ashbrook has been a good congressman. Few members of the house have been so diligent in promoting the interests of their constituents.

Mr. Ashbrook has never been miserly in dispensing the taxpayers' money. Indeed, he had such a reputation for generosity to widows, orphans and veterans that years ago he was dubbed "Pension Bill."

Now he's in danger of being hoist on his own petard. Out-pensioned!

Nothing Funny.

The situation might be funny if it weren't so sad. The spectacle of aged men and women thumping their canes feebly on the floor as spellbinder Woodward painted a golden mirage before them—that isn't funny.

Old Bill Ashbrook may have his faults, but he has a conscience too. He has enough intellectual honesty, enough concern for the welfare of his country, we believe, that he'd rather be defeated than give countenance to Townsendism, to $30-every-Thursday, or any of the other fantastic schemes that various crackpots have conceived throughout the country.

ALL of US

—By MARSHALL MASLIN

When My Friend Spoke of Death—

MY FRIEND spoke to me of death.

He said that the zest of life had gone out of him. The nap was worn off of life and he was desperately bored. The best of his days were gone forever and would not come his way again. No one needed him, he was even tired of himself and in all likelihood some day he would toss his life away as casually as you or I might discard a burned-out match. The flame was flickering to its end, what work he had to do was finished and behind him and why should he prolong the futile waiting.

I did not argue with my friend because words at such a time are futile. I felt remote from him and futile. And I know whatever arguments I might bring forth would fall feebly on those ears that despair had deafened . . . . He could have conjured up all the arguments I could think of, anyway . . . . So I did not argue with him.

But I remembered that once I drove through the hot, barren hills of my home state. The sun was beating pitilessly down on the dry hills and the sheep were huddling in the shade of the still trees. The grass was parched away and where a wagon rolled through a field the dust made a yellow cloud. To a woman who sat beside me it was all ugliness. She turned to me and said: "How terribly uninteresting!"

"I did not reply. It would have been a waste of words to say to her: "I love it. It is hot, it is ugly. But it is part of my own heart and I belong to it and would not have have it otherwise." . . . I did not tell her that only a week before I had gone that way with another passenger, another woman, in that same heat, through those same brown hills, with the yellow dust upon them, and that other woman had turned to me, just as she had, and said in reverence: "God! that's lovely!" (And said those words as though they were a prayer.)

So how could I argue with my friend? I knew him too well for that—and knowing him so well I knew that as he despaired today he might be rich with hope, once more, tomorrow. Tomorrow he might look down upon the bare brown hills of his past and find them lovely once again—miraculously, unexplainably beautiful. I knew that often the aspect of our lives is dependent upon the way we look at it—and it is this that makes the difference between a bitterness and a blessing.

Listen, World!

The Quiet Path.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SO I LOCKED the door behind me and laid the last flowers on a slender grave . . . and went up into the mountains to build a new home for myself and try to forget the old one I had loved so well. (Just as you, perhaps, have done.)

And after a while I found the place I sought. A great, grey ridge of granite, sprawling across the width of a hidden valley, with the furrowed bronze of the pine trunks riding its crest and the covering soil soft and deep as a pelt.

A sprawled ridge, rising above the tangled grasses of the meadow . . . falling away into the tumbled boulders of the creek. And beyond, lifting plane upon plane, deepening from turquoise to violet, dimming from violet to ash, there went the marching files of the hills . . . the endless reach of the ranges.

So my land lay, when first I came to the Sierra. Wild land that had never known harrow, plough or saw, lacking any map to show where a tent might stand or a field might flow or a trail might follow. Miles from cities and people. With the wild dove and quail calling at dawn . . . and the side-winding ribbon of a rattler across the path at noon . . . and the yammer of fox or coyote at night. And, occasionally, the huge, spaced print of a mountain lion's pad, deep in the pinkish dust.

"It will do," I said to myself. "It is what I need. The makings of a new home and a new hope, they are here. But first I will build a garden. For building a garden ties you up with life . . . gives you roots again."

So I set about building a garden. And that first year, I planted flowers as a man might sow wheat . . . scattering them helter-skelter, without aim or purpose, wherever the soil lay bare to the quickening sun. All the vivid, aggressive flowers—bright, heady blooms heavily perfumed, grossly luxurious in their quick growth—that are like the hot, impulsive adventures one seeks for escape—I planted them all. Then watched as they burst into a fury of scarlet and saffron, magneta, cerise and gold, foaming out of the crannies, leaping along the ledges . . . rocketing against the coppery shadow of the oaks.

An amazing sight, that clamor or color against the woods' walled darkness. Dramatic, arresting... like a great, challenging laugh. And yet, to me, there was something wrong . . . something lacking. Building, I had the thought that garden would give me a sense of sheltering friendliness—a little haven of peace. But I'd been wrong. This bustling brilliance . . . this clutching, colorful confusion . . . simply intensified my own chaos . . . made me the more restless and bewildered. And the need for peace grew in me like a pain.

So one day I took my shovel and turned away from that flaming fanfare of flowers . . . and cleared a little path. It was scarcely a hand's span, that faint trail, wandering through the shadows of the gnarled trunks and the overhanging rocks . . . dipping into the ferns and mossy hollows. Nothing moved in its dim silence. Nothing called. Here and there a patch of light lay like a fading leaf. Or a small flower spread its frail blue lace. Even the fall of an acorn or the flicker of the grasstops came dimmed. As though one moved along the floor of some vast sea, shut out, forever, from the tumult of the tide.

And there in the quiet, I found the thing I had sought. I found Peace. Not in the tumult and clamor, the risk and the adventure . . . but on a quiet obscure trail, my heart was healed again.

And often since I have thought that life should be like that for us all. Holding, somewhere within its busy, bustling round, some certain place of Peace.

Ohio Anecdotes

Anti-Horse Thief Societies.

In the mid-nineteenth century, citizens of many Ohio communities formed horse rangers or anti-horse thief societies against the horse thefts so prevalent at that period.

So well were these societies organized that, for example, in Deerfield township, Warren county, every horse stolen over a 30-year period was recovered. At times the expense of the recovery amounted to as much as $500, whereas the horse may have been worth only $50.

Nevertheless, such organizations continued active for more than 50 years, reaching a probable peak of membership in 1880.

Although created purely to retrieve horses, the societies extended their activities to include detection of villainy and outlawry in general.

A Farmer's Diary

Habits of Bats.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

FOR several weeks, at twilight, I have watched the zigzag course of several flitting bats. Their line is so irregular and uncertain that I doubt if they themselves know where they expect to go. I have felt one pass so close to my head that I could feel the movement of the air its wings made, yet it never touched me. Several times I saw them fly so close to the wash line wires that I imagined I could hear the wing tips hit—but they dodged them perfectly. Experiments have shown that the delicate inner ear and extremely sensitive wing tips of a bat make it the most expert dodger known.

These creatures, like the whip-poor-will and the night hawk, are the insect eaters of the night. During the dark hours, they gorge themselves with the myriads of mosquitoes that infest our swamps and lowlands. I would far rather see a friendly, swooping bat than hear the cruel, high-pitched note of the mosquito.

When it is cold, they hibernate in hollow trees, caves, or crevices of buildings. They make no nests, but after the young are born, the mother flies about with the little ones clinging to her neck.

Some time ago, in August, I saw hanging from a hazel twig, what looked like a well-formed cocoon. Yet the dark, ribbed, furry folds disturbed my curiosity. I looked straight at this little object swinging in the breeze, for several moments. It showed no more life than a clump of hazel fruit. Finally, on closer scrutiny, I discerned, down at the tip, two tiny nostrils distending and contracting, as the air moved in and out . . . then the outline of a small head, with eyes and short, furry ears. It was a perfect camouflage, and that little insect eater was enjoying deep, peaceful slumber, cradled among fragrant leaves, and rocked by gentle summer wind.

I could restrain myself no longer, but touched the heavy clawed hind leg that held the bat securely. He awoke and flew, bewildered, to a higher tree. I was sorry to disturb his rest, but happy to have learned his secret.

A RIGOROUS and relentless sort of dance now in vogue in New York is the Conga line, an off-shoot of the Cuban big apple, and it is to be witnessed at the Havana Madrid each night after midnight. . . . It's all impromptu, the patrons falling in and going native at a mere nod from the rumba orchestra leader. Had you been there the other night going down the line your elbow companions would have included Mae Murray, George Raft, George Abbott, and Jack Melvin.

It seems strange, says Andre Baruch, but one can live by dropping nickels into slots in New York. For instance, you can get a shoeshine, a perfume spray, a sack of peanuts or cigarets, get weighed, get your fortune told, make a telephone call, get your picture taken, get electric shocks, buy gum or candy, and board a subway, all by dropping nickels into slots. At the penny arcade you can also see moving pictures and play baseball games this way.

RICH MINERALS ALTER STATUS OF YUGOSLAVIA

Balkan Country Becoming Powerful Through System of Industrialization.

(By United Press)

BELGRADE — The economic metamorphosis that has become apparent in Yugoslavia in the last one or two years is considered important not only for that country, but, in the light of present rearmament programs, also to all of Europe.

From an agrarian country whose economic sages for years have been advising it to rely on livestock raising as chief pursuit, Yugoslavia is considered to have become a state with a most promising industrial future. This change was occasioned by the discovery of mining engineers that Yugoslavia is mineralogically one of Europe's richest countries.

After the results of the assays were made known, the exploitation of these mineral resources was begun with the use of French, English and German capital. This action was carried out with such thoroughness that today Yugoslavia already ranks third in the world production of manganese ore and fourth in the world production of bauxite. In Europe, Yugoslavian production of copper takes first place.

Iron Deposits Developed.

The enormous iron ore deposits of this country are being developed. An idea can be gained of their magnitude by citing the fact that in Ljubija mountain in Bosnia alone there are veins containing 1,000,000,000 tons lying near the surface. A year ago the German firm of Krupp built state-owned steel mills at Zenica in Bosnia. Payment for this project will take the form of deliveries of iron ore to Germany.

Italy recently also has tried to obtain ore through a credit clearing arrangement, but Belgrade has shown lack of interest in anything except cold cash.

Yugoslavia also has begun to derive advantages from the new-found wealth. Its heavy industry, particularly that connected with armaments, has been expanding rapidly. Today it produces its own locomotives and construction steel, armor plate and ammunition.

Plane Construction Ahead.

Airplane construction now surpasses that of any two other Balkan countries. Yugoslavia, in short, has found itself in the position—now sought by other European nations—of having almost a self-sufficient war industry. The country now needs only to import heavy guns, and if plans for the construction of a gun factory at Zenica are brought to fruition this defect will soon be remedied.

The production of textiles has not lagged, being trebled in the last four years. Imports of raw cotton were doubled and imports of manufactured cotton products were cut in half in the course of the last year.

Well-informed quarters have linked the scrambling of foreign capital for investment in Yugoslavia and the sudden desire evinced by certain countries for "improved economic and political relationship with Yugoslavia" with the discovery of that country's wealth in just those metals, as bauxite and manganese, which are indispensable to the manufacture of armaments.

OHIOAN WHO JOINED FOREIGN LEGION 'TICKLED TO BE OUT'

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—So you want to join the French foreign legion?

Charles Sykora, 22, who joined in June, 1936, and made his first attempt to escape in November of that year, has just returned. He signed up in Paris "to get color and atmosphere for the fiction I want to write."

"There isn't any romance in the legion like most persons think there is," said ex-Legionaire Sykora. "And it is not made up of mostly criminals. Only about 20 per cent of those in the legion are petty criminals.

"I'm not sorry I joined for I got what I went after. I have atmosphere, color and some real characters in my book."

But Sykora didn't get much romance. After five months he was ready and anxious for something new and tried to escape.

"We were in Saida, Angeria," he said, "and an Englishman and I tried to get away. With a compass and a map of the country, we started out, but we were soon caught."

Sykora was then sent to Morocco, but when he tried another escape in May, 1937, he was taken to Colomb Beschar, French penal colony on the southern border of Algeria.

"And believe me," said Sykora, "It's hell there. The heat is terrific, and we had to work hard in our bare feet. It's the most beastly place in the world."

Sykora finally developed an infection on his left foot which made him unfit for military service and was discharged. Not long afterward, he arrived in Cleveland, "tickled to death."

Sykora said he signed up as an Englishman because Americans are not allowed in the legion. The pay has been increased recently, he said from a quarter of a cent a day to one and a half cents.

GALION—Dismissals from Good Samaritan hospital Tuesday night were: Lester Price to his home near Galion; Lowell Gottfried to his home east of Galion. On Wednesday morning Jacob Steinhour was dismissed to his home on South Market street.

CITES 73 FOR RECOVERY OF COUNTY FUNDS

Examiner Holds $4,041 Spent Illegally; Auditor, Engineer, Commissioners Named.

Findings totaling $4,041 against Richland county officials, and employes and persons sharing in county welfare agencies were returned today by the state bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices following an examination of county records and accounts.

Based largely on technicalities, the findings require 73 persons and organizations to return to the county money obtained by them through overpayment, failure to keep proper records of receipts, or a misunderstanding of state laws.

Persons against whom findings were returned already have repaid $1,380 of the total $4,041 in findings, leaving $2,660 due, the report shows.

Most of the county officials, however, were commended for the administration of their offices and the accurate records kept by employes.

Largest Findings.

Largest among the findings included $867 against county commissioners and the county auditor for illegal expenditures; $880 against the late Nelle O'Donnell, deputy recorder, for salary illegally drawn; $585 against County Engineer Howard C. Sword for junk sold and unaccounted for; $250 against the commissioners and engineer for un-recorded receipts from the sale of the old Bellville bridge; and $127 to Nellie Mecklem, deputy clerk of courts, for salary illegally drawn.

State examiners pointed out that the $867 finding against the commissioners and auditor was for excessive expenditures from the dog and kennel fund. A maximum of 50 per cent of the receipts of the dog and kennel department may be spent for administration, they said, and the finding represents the amount spent over the legal 50 per cent. Included in the excessive expenditures was $250 for a car for use by the county dog warden.

County Recorder Howard Wenning explained that Nelle O'Donnell received her salary during a six and a half month period in which she was ill a part of the time. Because she had not signed the county payroll each time, the payment of salary to her was listed as illegal by examiners. Miss O'Donnell died several months ago.

"In view of Miss O'Donnell's 30 years of service to the county and the fact that she worked a part of the time when she was ill, I considered it proper that she should receive her pay," Wenning said.

A person authorized by the county treasurer, auditor and commissioners to sign for her pay check received the money and turned it over to her each time she was absent, he said.

The same technicality accounted for the $127 finding against Miss Nellie Mecklem in the clerk's office, who said she was ill from April 15, 1936, to July 1, the same year, but received her salary during a part of that time.

Bought Equipment.

Repaying the total amount of the findings against him, Engineer Sword said he had spent receipts from the sale of old bridge iron for necessary equipment now in use in his office but had not been credited with the purchases by the examiners. The same use was made of funds from the sale of the Bellville bridge, he said.

If the engineer had not used the bridge iron receipts for the purchase of office equipment, it would have been necessary for county commissioners to appropriate an additional amount from the county general fund for supplies, Sword and the commissioners said.

Findings totaling $62 were returned against Probate Judge C. J. Anderson for minor items not recorded in the court cash books and for collections for the recording of marriage license returns of ministers. Of the findings, $41 was repaid by Judge Anderson, but he said there was a question as to the legality of the finding in reference to the collection of the marriage license fee.

No findings were returned against the board of elections, county school board, common pleas court, law library, county treasurer, prosecuting attorney, fair board, court of appeals, children's home, coroner and court of appeals.

The examination was made by Otto W. Carpenter, W. E. Darling and Wade J. Beyerly, jr., at a cost of $3,187 to the county.

FILES PLEA IN BANKRUPT'S SUIT

Trustee Appeals Common Pleas Court Ruling In Case.

A suit to obtain possession of a Mansfield property to include in the assets of a bankrupt's estate was taken to the Fifth district court of appeals today by Atty. H. M. Rust, Mansfield, the plaintiff, who lost his case in county common pleas court.

Rust, trustee in bankruptcy for Frank Schwaner, Mansfield, seeks to have a property allegedly owned by Schwaner, sold at auction so as to list it as a cash asset.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston dismissed Rust's petition on the grounds that Schwaner did not own the property.

WISE RE-NAMED BY COMMISSION

Mansfield Specialist Elected to Head State Blind Group at Columbus Session.

Dr. R. C. Wise, Mansfield, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, has been re-elected president of the Ohio Commission for the Blind, it was learned today. He is serving his second five-year term on the commission, having been reappointed last year.

He was elected president of the body last year, and was re-named to that office at the annual election held in Columbus recently.

The commission determines the medical eye policies for the state and has charge of the distribution of funds for the relief and prevention of blindness and service to those afflicted. There are six men on the commission.

The body also determines the Social Service benefits with reference to the blind. It was the first group in the country to establish school surveys for eye weaknesses.

Dr. Wise recently came into national prominence through an experiment in which carrot oil was used to treat certain eye defects and sight inaccuracies. The experiment was conducted at the Mansfield Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing plant, and was recounted in the American Medical Journal.

NAME CASHELL

Superintendents of Sunday Schools Elect Officers.

L. J. Cashell, superintendent of the First Lutheran Sunday school was elected president of the city-wide association of Sunday School Superintendents at the annual organization meeting in the Y. M. C. A. last night. He succeeds Myron Miller of the First Christian church.

Other officers elected were M. S. Casto, Free Methodist church, vice president, and Paul Garverick, Lincoln Heights Church of the Brethren, secretary-treasurer.

Plans were made for the annual Sunday school workers' rally meeting to be held in October, and for the workers' training class, which will start after the first of the year.

COURT UPHELD

Appeals Judges Affirm Ruling Denying Divorce Decree.

The Fifth district court of appeals today upheld the Richland county common pleas court in refusing a divorce to Helen I. Moore from Charles E. Moore and refusing to award industrial compensation to Mrs. Violet Murst for the death of her husband, William Murst.

Counsel for the plaintiff in the divorce suit carried the case to the appeals court after Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston refused to grant a divorce and a property settlement on the grounds that there was no record of a marriage between Helen I. Moore and Charles E. Moore of Springfield township.

A common pleas court jury had approved a directed verdict for the Ohio Industrial commission in the suit brought by Mrs. Murst. The verdict of both courts held that her husband's death was not the result of injuries he received while employed by the Vitreous Enameling company, Mansfield, and that she was not entitled to compensation.

The appeals court heard the cases here on Sept. 21, and withheld its decisions until today.

$15,000 FUND SHIFT AIDS CITY

Budget Board Cuts Operating Fund $55,000 but OK's Bond Fund Transfer.

eral bond retirement fund levy .3 of a mill increased the operating expenses for next year by approximately $15,000.

He said the reduction in the general bond retirement fund, which is inside the 10 mill limitation, was made possible by the "substantial balance" in the fund to make up the difference in the debt service and thereby allow the city an increase in operating expenses.

Kelley said the additional funds applied to the general fund would remove the need for any drastic curtailments in the 1939 operations of the municipal departments.

The budget sets the funds available inside the 10-mill limitation at $108,440 and outside the limitation at $72,800.

At the same time, Kelley announced that the city had obtained an advance draft of $35,000 from the county on the September real estate tax settlement.

He explained that $30,000 was to be applied to the general fund to meet current operating expenses while $2,000 was for payment of the firemen's pensions and $3,000 for police pensions.

SUPERVISOR OF BIBLE SCHOOLS ADDRESSES SOCIETY AT GALION

GALION—Guest speaker, Wednesday, at the regular meeting of the Woman's Missionary society held at the Presbyterian church, was Clara Louise Smith of Martins Ferry, supervisor of over 100 daily Vacation Bible schools of southeastern Ohio, and director of the women's work under the board of National Missions of the Synod of Ohio.

She conducts many educational programs for boys, girls and women in this coal mining district in eastern Ohio. She presented an interesting account of her work to the members of the society and the 15 guests who were present. She also gave interesting experiences of a co-worker who had lived in Czechoslovakia.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Ernestine Gillespie and prayer for missionaries was offered by Mrs. Glenmore Hawkins. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. H. A. Pounder, and the speaker was introduced by Mrs. A. W. Bradfield.

Lunch was served at the close by the executive committee acting as hostesses for the meeting.

ELECTED AGAIN

Vaughn Re-elected President of City Parks Group.

Roy Vaughn was re-elected president of the Mansfield Public Parks Association at the annual election of officers held last night at Liberty park.

Others elected are William Spriggins, vice president; G. L. Watson, secretary, and Floyd Fighter, treasurer. Vaughn represents Prospect park, Spriggins North Lake park, Watson Liberty park, and Fighter Johns park.

The next meeting of the group will be held Oct. 12 at the club house at Prospect park.

RAZE BUILDING

Workmen Prepare for Building New School at Galion.

GALION—As the A. D. Schreck Erecting company started the razing of the old East school building today, some 220 pupils of the building began their studies at the Junior High building at 8 a. m.

The East school pupils will be in session from 8 a. m. until 12:15 p. m., while grades one through four of the west elementary will attend school from 12:45 p. m. until 5 o'clock. There will be a 20-minute recess period during this time.

Kindergarten and the 5th and 6th grades of the West building will continue on the regular schedule.

Satisfactory arrangements have been made with E. N. Dietrich, state director of education, by Supt. O. E. Hill for this dual use of the six classrooms at the West building during the period of construction of the new $98,182 structure.

Supt. Hill has suggested that pupils from the east side should go to the Junior High school building on the south side of Harding Way and the west side of South Union street.

Schoolboy Patrol members will be stationed at dangerous intersections.

Shelby

Miss Ella Margaret Smith entertained a group of friends recently with a bridge party. The affair was complimentary to Miss Naomi Hubbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hubbs of Marvin avenue, who will return this week to Ohio State university to resume her studies. Misses Ruth Schrantz and Kathryn Reichhardt won bridge prizes. Miss Hubbs was presented with a gift.

A party honoring Miss Maxine Dennis, bride-elect of Karl Giller, jr., was given this week by Misses Virginia Franch and Mary Jane Kerr at the Kerr home. A dessert bridge featured the evening with prizes awarded Mrs. William Lowmiller, Mrs. Paul Curry and the bride-elect.

Patsy Tanner, Joan Briggs, Annibelle Karr, Hope and Sandra Jones, Sally and Joan Payne, Betty Derrow, Eileen Ruhl, Carol Davis, Dana Weber, Gene and Augus Coleman and Carol Sue Morse were guests of Miss Norma Jean Will when she held a party recently in honor of her ninth birthday anniversary.

A preparatory service to communion will be held at 7:30 p. m. today at the First Presbyterian church in charge of Rev. A. B. Allison. A reception for new members will be held in connection with the service.

Mrs. John Plank of Shelby will be hostess to the regular meeting of the Alpha Tau Sigma sorority Oct. 10 at her home in this city.

FOUR MEN RULE ON EUROPEAN DESTINY TODAY

Seek Peaceful Solution of Czech Crisis in Meeting at Munich.

stronger by control of central Europe. Italy spreads her fascist legions around the Mediterranean and dreams of another Roman empire. Japan's armies drive ever deeper into China.

* * *

The four men at today's conference table represent to an unusual degree the conflicting aims which have dragged their peoples so close to war.

CHAMBERLAIN: In the desperate struggle for peace, he has become "good old Neville" to the crowds in Downing street. No man wants peace more than this 69-year-old British prime minister and no people dreads war more than the British. Tall, with a moustache that makes him the target for every cartoonist, Chamberlain has steadfastly clung to the hope that Europe would "muddle through" to an agreement under which democracies can live side by side with dictatorships.

HITLER: An enigma in modern diplomacy, the Nazi fuehrer has already achieved a tremendous triumphs by not only putting Germany on an equal footing in the councils of world powers but by having Europe's rulers come to him to negotiate for peace. Today's meeting at Munich may wipe out the last hint of ridicule under which he smarted in 1923 when the world laughed at his abortive Munich beer hall Putsch.

MUSSOLINI: Europe's foremost sword-rattler, the Italian premier last spring was in the most advantageous position of any ruler in Europe with Germany as an ally and Britain seeking a friendship pact as the asis for a general European settlement. He has repeatedly spoken out for Germany in the present crisis.

DALADIER: Like all Frenchmen, the first thought of Daladier is security for France. Swung into power by collapse of the leftist cabinet of Leon Blum, he has bound his nation tightly to Great Britain in the present crisis but made every effort to stiffen British opposition of further expansion of the reich.

Boy Scout Troop 18 Years Old To Hold Celebration

Former and present members of Boy Scout troop No. 1 at West Fifth street school, will gather at Camp Avery Hand, jr., at 7:30 p. m. Friday for the first reunion of the troop since its organization.

The reunion will be in the form of a camp fire meeting, and will be in charge of H. J. Dotson, principal of John Simpson Junior high school, and first scoutmaster of the troop.

Among the former members who will attend will be Paul Thiem, former member and scoutmaster of the troop, a former field executive in the Johnny Appleseed area, and at present a scout executive at Corpus Christi, Texas. Members of the present troop committee will be guests at the event.

The troop was organized Nov. 11, 1920, and now has 28 scouts registered. J. W. Bayer is now scoutmaster. The reunion is being sponsored by the troop committee headed by Darrell Nichols. Wayne Au and John Springer represent the former members on the committee. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

FRANCE WILL PAY, SAYS SOVIET OF FOUR-POWER MUNICH PARLEY

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW — Soviet Russia, watching the four-power conference from the sidelines, took the pessimistic view today that Prime Minister Chamberlain was only strengthening Adolf Hitler's hand by attending the parley.

This view was expressed in the government newspaper, Izvestia, in a Geneva dispatch which assumed added importance because of Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff's presence there.

The dispatch called the idea of the Munich conference "monstrous and said France would pay a high price for her participation.

"Up to now British concessions to Hitler have been torn from the living flesh of Czechoslovakia," it said. "At this conference of four France inevitably will pay for her friendship with England."

The foreign office early today made public a note to the United States accepting President Roosevelt's suggestion that the Soviet government address a peace appeal to Germany and Czechoslovakia similar to that sent to the two countries by President Roosevelt early Monday.

With a puzzled smile on his face, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, physician for the Dionne quintuplets, went to court in Chicago to face a $1,000,000 damage suit trial arising from the upset plans of a Los Angeles promoter to display the quints at the 1934 World fair in Chicago.

POLAND FIXES HER 'DEADLINE'

Government Says Czechs Will Be Attacked Saturday If Demands Are Ignored.

(By United Press)

WARSAW, Poland — Government spokesmen reiterated today that regardless of the outcome of the Munich conference, Poland's army would attack Czechoslovakia Saturday unless the 20-mile stretch of lower Silesia was returned to this country before then.

The disputed area surrounds the town of Teschen, which straddles the Polish-Czechoslovak border. It was seized by Czechoslovakia in January, 1919, while world diplomats were still fixing the boundary lines of war-born Czechoslovakia, and while Poland was busy fighting Russia.

A peaceful solution of the dispute had been anticipated earlier in the week when President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia agreed in principle to the cession. But today, negotiations were still incomplete, Poland's military strategists were assembled on their side of Teschen, and sporadic fighting continued along the border.

There was no attempt at secrecy in the Polish mobilization at Teschen and government spokesmen there said frankly that although they hoped for a quick solution, their plans were to attack Saturday unless there were favorable developments.

The four-power conference in Munich today in no way affected Poland's ultimatum, they said.

GO TO PARLEY

Mansfield Policemen to Be at National Convention.

At least three members of the Mansfield police department are expected to attend the 22nd annual national convention of the Fraternal Order of Police which will convene Oct. 3, 4 and 5 at Akron.

They are Lieut. Bruce Friday, president of the Mansfield chapter; Detective Oscar Krupp, vice president, and Patrolman O. D. Fair, secretary-treasurer.

Business sessions will open at 10 a. m. Monday at the Mayflower hotel and continue through Wednesday.

The keynote address for nearly 800 delegates will be delivered by Judge Arthur S. Day of the Ohio supreme court, at a banquet at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Election of officers is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon and will conclude the convention.

CORN HUSKERS TO VIE OCT. 22 IN CRAWFORD

Men, Women, Children to Take Part in Competition on McMichael Farm.

BUCYRUS—Saturday, Oct. 22 has been set as the date of the annual Crawford county corn husking contest, which will be held again this year on the H. G. McMichael farm east of Bucyrus.

Four contests will be held, including men's standing corn, men's shock corn, women's shock corn and vocational agriculture shock corn. A horse pulling contest will also be held in the afternoon.

Winners in the contests will be eligible to compete in the state husking contest to be held in Madison county later in October.

CRAWFORD COURT NOTES

BUCYRUS — Common Pleas court: Application made by the New Washington school board to transfer $10,000 from the replacement fund to the general fund.

Cognovit judgment rendered for $484.42 in favor of Walter G. Roesch, doing business as the Lincoln Way Garage against Luther Tupps.

Home Owners Loan corporation against George P. Eckstein, Raymond Eckstein, Herbert Eckstein, Ruth Eckstein White, heirs at law of Lulu Eckstein, deceased, Jane Freese Eckstein and George P. Eckstein, administrator of the estate of Lulu Eckstein, foreclosure action filed asking judgment of $4,365.

Probate court: Accounts filed in the estates of Elby Dixon, Clara A. Knell and Florence Mahoney. Inventory filed in the estate of Laura F. Holmes and statement in lieu of an account filed in the estate of Elizabeth Heinle.

Will of Clarence L. Royer filed in which all property, real and personal is bequeathed to his widow, Ida C. Royer. A codicil dated Aug. 13, 1936, provides that $1,000 be bequeathed to his mother Mary C. Royer.

Application for a marriage license filed by Arthur W. Hoover, 21, Vernon township, and Grace K. DeVore, 18, Jefferson township.

WANTS DAVEY TO ACT ON PROBE

Duffy Tells Governor More Money Needed If He Wants Parole Quiz Renewed.

Echos of the parole inquiry conducted in Richland county early this year were heard in Columbus today when Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy called upon Gov. Martin L. Davey to decide whether he wished the investigation closed or whether he would recommend to the emergency board that further funds be allocated so "we might be in a position to effect the purposes of the investigation."

An International News dispatch from Columbus said Duffy outlined to the governor in a letter that every effort was made by his office to obtain adequate funds with which to prosecute findings of a special grand jury which investigated the parole system in Columbus and Mansfield.

He asked that the governor answer the letter immediately.

A special grand jury sitting at the Ohio state reformatory inquired into the parole system here for three weeks before they were dismissed by Duffy because of the lack of funds to conclude their investigation. They have not yet made their report to the attorney general.

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

CHAPTER 6

Ronald Birrell's arms were strong and firm. The chest against which he pressed Judy was hard. For a wild second she realized he had not kissed any other girl this way, that he had not wanted to. It was on his lips, the confession written in full.

Then he let her go. He spoke slowly. "I'm sorry, Judy. I forgot myself. I haven't any other excuse. If I can atone..."

"I'd like to go home," she said, shaken when she should have been angry.

Ronald Birrell spoke again, when they had turned the car back toward the city. "Maybe you will remember me now."

Those words erased the strange uncertainty that had seized her. They released her anger.

"I'll forget you as quickly as I can."

"As you wish." He did not speak again until he helped her from the car. She did not say good night. She ran into the foyer to the elevator.

"Judy Rogers, you don't look like a girl a red-headed young man should take for open prey. You look NICE. I hate him, hate him, hate him!"

* * *

Three days later the town house was closed. Judy went to the train with her father and stepmother, leaving at once for the west. She knew they believed she was having her luggage taken to the dock, to wait until the sailing of the Queen Mary. She had convinced them she could not be ready in time to take the Normandie. They supposed she was staying for a day or two with her aunt, prior to sailing.

In reality the luggage had gone to an unimportant hotel where the rates were low. Fifty dollars, a farewell gift from her father, had paid the rent for two weeks, and would provide her with some money for food and carfare.

But when the train pulled out, she stood on the platform, scared and white. She watched the white-coated porters signaling that they were ready, saw the rose-shaded lamps shining on the tables in the diner, and thought or the cheap little room where she would live now.

Then the train was gone. The last light bobbed its farewell as it swung under the tunnel beneath the river's approach.

She was alone! What was it Ronald Birrell had said: "Life can't lick you unless you want it to."

As if anyone wanted it to! The boy wasn't as smart as he sounded, viewed in the cold terms of daylight.

* * *

Well, she must hunt for a job. She had worn a black woolen suit, with a white blouse that was an intricate mass of ruffles. It was too frivolous for an office but it was feminine. Surely men must tire of secretaries in severe tailleurs. Only she couldn't type, so she couldn't be a secretary. She might clerk. Eventually she wanted to model but that must wait until a little time passed so the photographers would not find her, and put her pictures in the paper some more. She bought a paper, carried it to a drug store, and scanned the employment pages as she ate a deviled egg sandwich and drank a malted milk.

No good. No jobs she could handle. There was the telephone directory. It would supply names of employment agencies.

So it happened that the next morning, early, Judy, still in the black ensemble, but with a simpler blouse today, sat on a bench and waited to be interviewed at an agency. She noticed that the other girls who waited seemed sure of themselves. They had worked and knew what they could do.

"What's your specialty?" someone asked.

"I haven't any."

"That's bad. You should know how to do some one thing well. Can you model? You're slender enough, and sort of built for wearing clothes. Of course, you aren't very tall . . ."

"No modeling," said Judy firmly. But why not? She could change her name She had worn gowns on display in charity bazaars and style shows. She had poise.

It would have to be a shop not too well known, though. Otherwise clients would recognize her. Some day she wouldn't care. Not yet, though.

So Judy filled out a blank and suggested that she would like to model.

"Nothing doing," the woman at the desk told her. "Models are tall and willowy. You're skinny enough, but too short. Still, once in a while they need somebody for juveniles. Ever do that?"

"No, not juveniles."

"Well, give us your application. We'll call you."

Judy registered with half a dozen other agencies. She was starting home when a voice hailed her at the subway steps. A girl seized her arm.

"Judy, I thought you were gone already! I knew the house was closed, and your family had left. When do you sail?"

* * *

The girl was Marjorie Barton. She had chestnut hair, bright and shining, and flashing blue eyes She had been Judy's roommate at boarding school, and the one person in whom she would dare to confide. But Judy had been in Europe when Marjorie last had been in America, and then Marjorie had gone abroad when Judy returned. They had not met for a year.

Suddenly Judy wanted to cry. Here was someone who would understand. Here was a refuge. Then she straightened her shoulders.

"I'm job hunting, Marjorie, but nobody knows. Promise to keep it, won't you? Everyone thinks I'm going to France."

"But you're not?"

Standing at the top of the subway steps at Forty-second street and Seventh avenue Judy told the story.

"Come home to dinner with me, Judy. Dad's bringing a young lawyer, Ronald Birrell, who's been handling some work for him at the Heaton office. They say he's knocked down the feminine hearts of the city as though they were paper mache nine-pins. I'm not dropping any confetti to celebrate until I've viewed the gentleman but he's probably worth a good look. Please come, Judy."

"I can't, Marg, but I'd adore it. You see, nobody must know I'm in town. Not—not this lawyer or anyone"

"But I want to talk to you, and we haven't even time to grab a cab and go to the St. Regis for a cup of tea—I know, Judy! You come home for the night. You can call wherever you are staying. Then you may have a tray in your room, if you insist, but we can talk and talk. We have a year on which to catch up."

* * *

Judy's feet burned. High-heeled patent leather pumps were not so good for job hunting. Her crisp white blouse was wilted. So was the gardenia on her lapel. She tossed it through the window of the cab. She would just stay with Marjorie for half an hour, while she prepared for dinner. Then she would leave. She was strictly on her own. No favors from anyone!

But Marjorie's next words made her change her mind.

"Judy, where did Craig meet Mary Banner? She's a sweet child, but how did Craig and Mary happen to get married?"

"You know her?"

"She was traveling with an aunt in Switzerland, and some friends of mine knew the aunt. I'll tell you about it tonight."

* * *

So Judy stayed She watched Marjorie slip into a silver sheathe that was a shining, straight dress, and comb her hair high on the top of her shapely head. For just a moment she envied Marjorie, because she would sit in the candlelight and smile at Ronald She wondered if he would kiss her, too, and a swift fear stabbed at her heart.

What if he did? She hated him. Oh, make the evening hurry, hurry, so she could hear about Mary who had married Craig!

She was sitting in a deep chair, half asleep, a magazine on her lap, when she heard footsteps on the terrace outside her room. She switched out the lamp and went to the window, concealed by the draperies. She recognized the gleam of Marjorie's frock, the low rumble of Ronald's voice:

"I've met the girl I could marry," he was saying.

BUCYRUS — Frank B. The necessity of community service among service clubs, merchants and others interested in community welfare, was stressed.

EXPORTS SHRINK

Brazil Registers Decline in Shipments of Cotton.

RIO DE JANEIRO, — (INS) — Brazil registered a decline in the exports of cotton for the first four months of this year compared to the same period in 1937. Total exports for the four mouths, January to April of this year aggregated 47,299 tons compared with 49,303 tons for the corresponding period last year, a decline of 2,104 tons.

EGG KILLS HEN

Extra Large Size Causes Hen to Lose Her Head.

SOUTH BEND, Ore. —(INS)— A Plymouth Rock hen owned by Mrs. Al Carruthers was dead today because its egg-making apparatus went wild.

Then hen was killed after it acted strangely for several days. The reason for its strange actions was found to be a huge egg, 3½ inches long and 2½ inches in diameter, which proved sufficient alone to make a large cake.

Protects more OHIO motors than any oil...at any price!

SOHIO Motor Oil defies natural laws—its high "V. I." keeps your motor safe at any temperature!

You motorists who have made SOHIO Motor Oil the most popular in the state—you who are enjoying its safety and protection in your own cars—will be interested in the scientific reason for its superiority.

SOHIO Motor Oil gives you greater protection and lower consumption because it has extremely high "V. I." Here's what high "V. I." means: It means an oil that flows freely, like a "light" oil, at low temperatures—yet holds its body like a "heavy" oil, when your motor reaches sizzling heats.

SOHIO Motor Oil is neither a "light" nor a "heavy" oil. By a patented process that defies nature, it combines the advantages of both kinds of oil. Thus it is safer—doesn't "use up" like ordinary oil—is more economical!

SOHIO Motor Oil has one of the highest "V. I." ratings in the world today. Yet you buy premium quality SOHIO Motor Oil for only 25c a quart.

Is it any wonder that Ohio motorists prefer SOHIO three to one over any other oil—at any price? Next time you need oil—get SOHIO. Your oil level stays up better—you get better protection.

Sealed Meter to Test Expense of Electric Cooking

Mansfield housewives can stop wondering about how much it actually costs to operate an electric range. A demonstration in the window of the Ohio Public Service company office on South Park street today and tomorrow will show her how much current a range consumes—after she has had an opportunity to guess the amount.

Sealed at 10 a. m. today by Mayor Claude M. Hunter, an electric meter attached to a Westinghouse range will measure the exact amount of current used during the demonstration.

At the close of the demonstration tomorrow afternoon the meter will be read in public and the cost of cooking meals computed.

Prizes, including a Westinghouse electric roaster, a streamlined iron, and a toaster set, will be awarded then to the housewife who makes the best guess as to the cost of the current consumed in preparing the meals.

Demonstrations will be conducted by Mrs. Irene Oberlin, home economist of the Ohio Public Service company, and Miss Alice Turner, Westinghouse economist. They will prepare complete meals and cook them on the Westinghouse automatic range.

SOCIAL WORKERS MEET IN CAPITAL

Mansfielders To Attend Annual Ohio Welfare Conference.

Several Mansfield social workers will go to Columbus next week to attend sessions of the Ohio Welfare conference.

About 1,500 workers from all over the state, as well as distinguished speakers, will assemble for a four-day meeting. Wednesday John W. Bricker, Columbus, and Charles Sawyer, Cincinnati, gubernatorial candidates, will outline their proposed welfare programs before the conference.

Sidney L. Palmer and Philip Ober, executive secretary and president of the Mansfield Community Fund; Probate Judge Charles Anderson and Miss Esther Barnett a probation officer, are among the Mansfield people who will attend several sessions.

The federal government paymaster issued 35,735,746 checks in 1936 at a cost of six cents per check.

France Speeds Up Mobilization As Parley Safeguard

NATION HOPES FOR PEACE BUT GIRDS FOR WAR

Government Prepared to Put Entire Nation on Duty If Conference Fails.

(By Associated Press)

PARIS—The French government was empowered by decree today to mobilize the entire nation for war at a moment's notice, should the Munich conference break down.

While Prime Minister Daladier met with Chancellor Hitler, Premier Chamberlain and Mussolini in the Munich peace parley, the decree appeared in the official journal.

It authorized the government to proceed at its discretion with integral mobilization of man power, industry and finance throughout the nation.

The decree said only "execution of measures contained in the law of July 11, 1938, is authorized," but that law provides for complete mobilization in time of war, or danger of war.

Up To Daladier.

The law also includes general mobilization of armed forces, and Premier Daladier now is in a position to order it when and if he considers it necessary, without further legal steps.

Under the law, women, as well as men may be conscripted for defense work. All industry could be nationalized immediately under the national defense ministry.

The law also provided for unifying armed forces of France under a single national defense chief of staff—in this case Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin.

Four thousand persons, mostly foreigners, were questioned in a police roundup through Paris in a drive against undesirable aliens. Forty-five were arrested.

The Thursday edition of the Royalist paper, L'Action Francaise was seized by police after carrying an attack on Alexis Leger, secretary-general of the foreign ministry, who is with Daladier at Munich, and other officials of the foreign office.

Check Peace Campaign.

The government used war time police power to check a campaign for "peace at any price" by the rightist, former premier, Pierre Etienne Flandin.

Police ripped down the posters he pasted on city billboards declaring the quarrel between France and Germany over Czechoslovakia was a "despicable pretext" for war and calling on the public to protest.

Issues of the newspaper La Liberte, which reprinted Flandin's appeal, were confiscated and many sellers were arrested.

Southmainchurch Tellsaboutrally Dayjustlikethis

Whenyouseesomethingwritten likethisitisalittlehardtodecipherbut itcatchesyourattention.

Which is probably the reason that the South Main Street Evangelical Sunday school used a device of that nature in announcing its Rally day program for next Sunday.

Last year, Superintendent W. G. Herrold used official-looking subpoenas to get out an attendance of 608. This year he had to do something different. So he had cards made to go on automobile bumpers, announcing the Rally day date, and then included in the program an "Evangelical Jam" which started out this way:

THISISTHEWAYWEWANTTO SEEFOLKSLOOKRALLYDAYIF EVERYBODYCOMESWHO OUGHTTOCOMEWEWILLHAVE OVERSEVENHUNDREDWE WILLBEPACKEDINLIKESAR-DINESJUSTLIKETHESEWORDS and so on.

The goal for this year is 700, and Herrold has a hunch the goal will be reached.

CLASS FETED

Wiener Roast Held for Members of Baptist Church Group.

The Charles H. Huston class of the Park Avenue Baptist church met Wednesday night at the home of Charles Selander, Maple street, for a wiener roast.

LaVerne Miller, president of the class, presided at the business session when plans were made for the organization of dart-ball teams. The following committee was in charge of the meeting: Fred Theirlien, jr., Fred Jackson, Raymond Bright, William Layland and Perry Bush. The next meeting of the class will be held at the church on Oct. 26th.

SHELBY—Election of officers and other annual business will be conducted Sunday morning during the regular meeting of the Young Men's class of the First Methodist church.

Flays New Deal As 'Politically Immoral'

Up and Down THE STREET

Mrs. Margery Ludwig, Park avenue west, has a time-yellowed county ballot in her possession which carries a ticket that will be familiar only to the older "residenters." It bears no date but oldsters may identify the time from the names. It was a Democratic single ballot and carried the following candidates: Robert B. McCrory, for representative; Eckels McCoy, probate judge; John J. Douglass, treasurer; John Gates, sheriff; John F. Murphy, county commissioner; John Dennis, infirmary director; Septimus W. Craighead, county surveyor. There also was a proposed "agriculture tax" which was to be voted on at the same time.

Unlike the noted Corrigan, William J. Marzetti, Mansfield taxi driver, found that the "wrong way" stunt was just another mistake and brought him a lot of ribbing from his friends. Receiving a call to take a passenger to Crestline, Marzetti misunderstood the order, he said, and went to Crestline for his "fare." After considerable inquiry, Marzetti decided there must be a mistake someplace and returned to Mansfield to find his intended passenger still waiting, but not patiently.

Jane Wilson, Mansfield songstress, is busy these days denying her engagement to Charlie Yates, Atlanta, Ga., who went to England to capture the British amateur golf championship last summer. . . . The Mansfield girl was the guest of Yates' friends in Pittsburgh during the week of the tournament at his invitation and was beaued about by the champion, whom she met in Atlanta while on tour with the Fred Waring band. Pictures of the two appeared in a number of newspapers and both the Akron and Toledo papers referred to engagement rumors. Out of town friends have written to Jane, offering congratulations. "Don't know whether it's more fun getting the congratulations or denying the engagement," she said. Anyway, she isn't.

Mansfield high's No. 1 football rooter was not at Stadium field last Saturday when the Tygers bowed to Massillon, but on the outskirts of the city along the Wooster road. The rooter was a youngster, but visiting fans got a bigger kick out of him than anything that happened Saturday—outside of the victory, of course. As the Massillon machines passed by the youngster's home, he held out a big sign scrawled in a childish hand reading "Massillon Boo."

BOY KILLS BOY

Ohio Youth Shot by Friend While Hunting Frogs.

TROY—(U.P.)—Miami county authorities today investigated the death of Warren Brimbelsom, 13, of Covington, O., who was shot by his companion, Richard Apple, 12, while hunting frogs along Stillwater river.

Apple told Coroner Cecil Marshall and Prosecutor Ellis W. Kerr that Warren was pulling him up on the bank with one hand while carrying his gun by the stock with the other. The boy said the trigger apparently caught on something and sent a rifle bullet into Warren's head.

Richard ran to the Warren Shafer home to report the accident.

Warren is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brimbelsom, three brothers and a sister. Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Apple of Covington.

TRUSTY FLEES PRISON FARM

Marion County Inmate Walks Away From Orchards.

A trusty who "walked off" the farm at the Ohio state reformatory yesterday afternoon, was still at large today, Supt. Arthur L. Glattke disclosed today.

The fugitive is Elmer Goodman, 23, received Jan. 27, 1936, from Marion county and serving a 10 to 25-year sentence on a robbery charge.

Glattke said Goodman was missing at the supper count. A posse of guards searched the vicinity until after dark without finding trace of the inmate who had been employed in the orchards.

TOP OF SKULL FOUND IN DUMP

Cleveland Police Admit It May Be Part of Torso Slaying Victim's Body.

CLEVELAND —(INS)—Sergeant James Hogan, of the police homicide squad, and Coroner S. R. Gerber today investigated the discovery of the top of a human skull in a dump in the southeast part of the city.

Although police admitted it was possible that the skull was part of the body of a 13th victim of this city's mad torso slayer, Dr. Gerber said: "I would say that this has absolutely nothing to do with the torso murders."

The skull, he said, probably had been buried eight or ten years, although its discoloration might have been due to fire, giving it a false appearance of age. A more thorough search of the dump was made, but no other bones were found.

Oscar Payne, a city truck driver, discovered the skull as a large unused mash tub was being unloaded at the dump. Detectives were interested because the tub came from the vicinity of 28th street and Woodland avenue, a few blocks from the spot where the body of one of the torso slayer's victims was found.

The discovery consisted of the top of a skull, with the lower part, including the jawbones, missing. Dr. Gerber said he believed the lower part had crumbled away.

GROTTO LEAVES FOR RECEPTION

Mansfielders Take Part In Greeting to 'Miss America.'

A delegation of members and officers of Baku Grotto of Mansfield will go to Marion tonight to take part in the reception for Miss Marilyn Meseke, the new "Miss America," who represented Ohio Grottos in the annual beauty pageant at Atlantic City this summer.

Among the officers who will attend the home-coming reception are Ralph Hughes, A. L. Croak, Howard Schuck, Frank May, Arthur Hughes, Robert J. Nichols and Eugene Flory.

The Marion beauty won her first title, that of "Miss Marion" at a beauty contest sponsored by the Marion and Mansfield Grottos last summer at Seccaium park, later capturing state honors at Cleveland.

Grotto members from throughout the state will take part in the reception.

North Fairfield Rural Power Plant Given $155,000 Fund.

NORTH FAIRFIELD—A grant of $155,000 to this community was included in a $5,000,000 allotment distributed to 28 projects in 18 states by the Federal Rural Electrification Administration, it was announced today.

The grant was made to the Firelands Electric Co-Operative, Inc., of North Fairfield.

MSGR. GOEBEL TO BE HONORED AT CHURCH RECEPTION TONIGHT

Mansfield will honor the first Catholic domestic prelate in its history at a civic and parochial reception for Rt. Rev. Msgr. R. C. Goebel, pastor of St. Peter's church, at 8 p. m. today in St. Peter's church hall.

Most Rev. Karl J. Alter, D. D., bishop of the Toledo diocese, invested Msgr. Goebel and eight other new domestic prelates with the purple robes of their office at colorful ceremonies yesterday at Queen of the Holy Rosary cathedral in Toledo.

The ceremonies tonight will be in charge of a committee headed by J. E. Kuebler, grand knight of the Mansfield chapter, Knights of Columbus. Msgr. Goebel celebrated solemn high mass at St. Peter's church at 10 a. m. today as the first service over which he has presided since he received the robes of prelate. Priests from Richland and Crawford counties assisted.

Speakers tonight will be Mayor Claude M. Hunter, representing the city; Judge C. H. Huston, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Henry G. Brunner, who was mayor of Mansfield in 1923 when Rev. Goebel was welcomed to the city; Roger Bolin and Mrs. T. J. McDermott, parish representatives.

The parish will present Msgr. Goebel with a purse in appreciation of his service to the church.

Music will be provided by a string quartet, and a buffet supper will be served after the program by members of St. Rita's Sodility.

Msgr. Goebel preached the sermon at the investiture ceremonies yesterday in Toledo, making Thanksgiving the keynote of his talk.

He expressed the gratitude of the new prelates to "God, the Holy Father, the bishop, parents of the monsignori and the loyal laity."

"Through 1,900 years the Catholic church has stood as the one rock against which the winds and the waves of error and changing principles have dashed in vain," Msgr. Goebel said.

Msgr. Goebel described Pope Pius as "the apostle of peace" and added that "only in listening to his words can there be peace."

He thanked the laity for its loyalty and cooperation. "You have supported us and been loyal to us, and the honor and dignity which have come to us reflect back on you. If we have done anything for the honor and glory and strengthening of religion, it has been through you that this was possible," he said.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

HOOVER BLASTS VOTE-GETTING MOVES IN WPA

Ex-President Praises Peace Efforts of Administration, Then Fires Salvo.

(By Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY—The hand of Herbert Hoover was extended to his Democratic successor, President Roosevelt, for his efforts to promote world peace in a time of crisis but, in the former president's own words, his gloves "are off" for a fight against "political immorality" in conducting the nation's business.

He launched that fight last night before an audience of 10,000 persons at a Republican rally here and announced he would enlarge upon his views in two other addresses—at Hartford, Conn., Oct. 17, and at Spokane, Wash., Nov. 5—bearing in mind "we are within six weeks faced with a national election of the highest importance."

All for Peace.

"The efforts of our government to maintain peace deserve our full support," Hoover said in prefacing his attack on the administration.

He interpolated in his text: "The president will find every Republican and every thinking person behind him in that effort."

From congratulation, he turned to fire a one-hour salvo of charges: That the Roosevelt administration had gorged political offices with 300,000 occupants without civil service examination; that WPA and other relief work had been infested by vote-getting policies: that finances had been juggled so deceitfully as to turn such Democrats as Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia against the party in power; and that a propaganda machine was at work costing at least $20,000,000 a year to operate.

"Every dictator in Europe has proved that by propaganda you can fool enough of the people all the time," he said.

He accused President Roosevelt of pretending to form a new liberal party on principles "hoary with reaction" and of blindly stamping all opposition as conservative.

"If being conservative on dragging America into the morass of political immorality or into the dead sea of reaction is conservative," Hoover said, "then I cheerfully join that party. And that party will yet become the hope of American life."

DIES ON VISIT

Mrs. Dina Borchers Stricken at Son's Home Here.

Mrs. Dina Borchers, 77, a native of Holland, died Wednesday at the home of her son, William Borchers, 49 West Second street, where she had been visiting for three weeks. She was in ill health when she came to Mansfield.

Mrs. Borchers was born in the Province of Groninger, The Netherlands, June 8, 1861, coming to America a number of years ago. Her home was at McBain, Mich.

She is survived by three sons and three daughters: William, of Mansfield; Peter, of Holland, Mich.; Karl and Mrs. Dora Baker of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Anna Bohn of Cedar Springs, Mich., and Mrs. Johanna Cree of Los Angeles.

The body will be taken to Grand Rapids where services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday, at the Vant-Hof funeral home. Burial will be made in Greenwood cemetery at Grand Rapids.

OHIO VEHICLES SET NEW RECORD

2,013,785 Registered During 12 Month Period Ending March 31.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—More motor vehicles were registered in Ohio for the 12 months ending March 31, 1938, than in any other 12 months in the history of the state, Frank West, state registrar of motor vehicles, said today.

With registration fees amounting to $24,335,697, a total of 2,013,783 passenger and commercial cars, motorcycles, side cars, trailers and public owned vehicles were registered in 1937, compared with the previous high in 1936 of 1,929,226, West said.

FAIR ENOUGH!

People Who Tried to Put War Out of Their Hearts Now Studying Its Effects

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Not long ago Bob Davis, who does a travel column for American newspapers, wrote one from Vienna explaining why in the midst of the turmoil and horror he has refrained from discussion or even mention of such things and of the rights and wrongs behind them. I hope that what I am about to say on this subject will not be read as an attempt to take him to task for his marvelous detachment. He has his peanut stand and I run mine, and I will say that he sells a very good brand of peanuts, being a good writer and story-teller, with a great knack for getting about and picking up entertaining pieces, mainly small ones about small people, and packaging them in a wrapper of jovial comment.

* * *

Mr. Davis said that, of course, he could not help hearing the wind blow when it does blow, but there were experts to attend to that which might be called the sordid and painful side of life and politics, and that he had an agreement with himself to yield their special field to them. He would resolutely ignore all such and pursue his way calmly—a feat of self-discipline which must relieve a man of much worry and heartache.

His salute to the experts was a little too elaborate, because Mr. Davis also knows a thing or two and, if he were of a mind to dip his bill into the subjects which he has arbitrarily forbidden himself, would do as good a job as most of the specialists. So, with full respect for his honesty, I suspect that he is being more modest than he should and that his placid neutrality or aloofness is of itself a specialty. No human heart can remain unperturbed and impartial effortlessly. It takes work.

* * *

At home we have a somewhat similar specialist in Mr. Ernie Pyle, who rattles about the country endlessly, writing in much the same vein, although at times with more feeling, a note of sorrow or pity for the human race—not one class as opposed or compared to another but the whole troubled, pathetic breed of men. He is at Quoddy village one day, in Akron another and writing about a strange restaurant in Toledo—not Spain, but Ohio—the next, but never does he write in terms of the Tory versus such knights in armor as Senator Sherman Minton, of Indiana, preferring, apparently, the belief that most people would like to get along without much hating and fighting but, unfortunately, don't know how. That is my general interpretation of his line but not an attempt to commit him to a formula. He rolls his own.

* * *

There are men I envy in my heart, and millions of others must, too, because they seem to be calm and optimistic, and Mr. Davis almost indifferent, in print, although in his soul he may be as badly troubled as the rest. He visits Vienna at a time or something very like a massacre and writes of restaurants and finds humanity in men who seem to have stifled compassion and every instinct that makes men feel superior to beasts.

There are few persons now who seem able, even at this great distance from Austria and Germany, to reawaken their knowledge from individual experience that the German nature is not entirely that of Hitler.

* * *

Up to a year ago there were many here who paid scarcely any attention to rumors of war abroad, and if they gave any thought at all to atrocity believed that the cruelty had been exaggerated in transmission. They would still like to be at peace in their hearts to relieve their souls of the terrible foreboding and turn back the clock to the days when Vienna was a city of music and politeness and human decency.

* * *

Editors of newspapers in this country often make a conscious effort to roll back the clouds from Page One and from the editorials and comment. The world's series has been a reliable interlude many times, and you often will observe, if you will take the trouble to notice, little brighteners—or two-headed calves, as we call them—on Page One of the papers, intended as rays of nonsense in the gloom.

But steadily the darkness has deepened, and people who tried so long, or didn't even have to try, to put dread out of their hearts now discuss war and its possible personal effect on them and their children.

I wish Mr. Davis and Mr. Pyle could be multiplied by many millions, for we then would have an effective nucleus of tolerance and understanding, but first of all I selfishly wish they could infect me, because they both seem to find nothing but kindness in the hearts of men wherever they go. Maybe the reason is that they find in the hearts of others only that which is in their own.

That could be the trouble with me, I suppose.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—All I know about Gunga Din is what Kipling told me. He's a better man that I am, or something like that—and he goes on for several verses. If you feel the same way, you'll be as happy as I am to realize that RKO is spending about $1,250,000 to expand and elaborate on Kipling's hero.

It's taking time, but George Stevens ought to have a real and thunderous adventure yarn when he winds it all up soon.

Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur did the first screen play, (and will be billed first for the writing) and Joel Sayre and Fred Guiol (to be billed second) did the one they're using in the main. Guiol, who was a Hal Roach director of pie-hurling when George Stevens was cutting his movie teeth on a Roach camera, is working with a second unit to speed up production. Stevens works with the principals—Victor McLaglen, Cary Grant, Doug Fairbanks, jr., Sam Jaffe and Joan Fontaine—while Guiol directs "connecting scenes" with mobs and lesser players.

* * *

Sam Jaffe, the stage actor who played the Grand Lama in the movie "Lost Horizon," plays the title role. Gunga Din (you're supposed to say it Goong-a-Deen) was a little Hindu water-carrier, or bhisti, who served the British army, refused to testify against soldier comrades in a court martial, and in consequence was kicked out on his diaper. But Queen Victoria is supposed to have investigated, found the little fellow quite a hero, awarded him her Cross, and feted him regally on his visit to London. His name wasn't really Gunga Din, and he's a legendary figure by now.

On account of him, RKO sent its forces for seven sweltering weeks to location at Lone Pine, which is in the High Sierras—the "high" referring, in July and August, to the temperatures which went up to 114 degrees some days. They sent along, besides the stars, all the 34 authentic Hindus hereabouts who hold Screen Actors Guild cards, plus Mexicans, Hawaiians, Filipinos, and Arabians who could wear sheets and turbans and make-up and thus simulate Hindus.

* * *

The story they've woven around the little bhisti has for heavies the thugs (you're supposed to say it tugs although our English word hails from it.) The thugs were organized, secret religious assassins who still flourished in India in the period of the story, 1885 or '90, and raised merry Ned with Her Majesty's loyal troops. These pleasant people, posing as pilgrims or travelers, enjoyed nothing better than a nice strangling party, so you can imagine what happens when McLaglen et al set out to cure them of their evil ways.

Sam Jaffe, the slight but great Broadway actor, was second choice for the title role. RKO first wanted Sabu, the "Elephant Boy" and more recently to be seen in "Drums." But Sabu is contracted to Alexander Korda, who had his own idea about terms.

Sam Jaffe is playing Gunga Din—and I for one think the picture will be the better for it.

Not Necessary To Take Gifts To Hostess

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

(Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.)

Dear Mrs. Fairfax:

I've just become engaged to the dearest man in the world, and I am so happy, I feel sometimes as if I don't want to lose a moment of it going to sleep at night. I just want to stay awake and realize what a glorious thing life is.

My problem is that I'm going to visit my fiance's family in another city. There's his mother, father and a sister and a brother.

Shall I take one expensive gift for all of them, or would it be better to take individual presents for each person? My girl friend says it isn't necessary to take anything. What do you think?

Helen.

There's no obligation on the part of a girl visiting her fiance's family for the first time to take them all gifts. It would be better not to appear so lavish.

Wait until your visit is concluded, and then, if you still feel you want to send a good-will offering, make a little gift to his mother—a bit of your workmanship would be appropriate.

A nice letter saying how much you enjoyed your visit is all that good form requires

Pepper Hash—One dozen green peppers, one dozen red peppers, one dozen onions. Remove seeds from peppers, grind or chop fine and cover with boiling water. Chop onions. Drain peppers and put in kettle with onions, add one pound brown sugar, one pint vinegar, salt to taste—try one tablespoon and taste to see if it is enough. Boil one hour, seal in jars or jelly glasses.

Cold Cucumber Pickles — One gallon best cider vinegar, one cup dry mustard, one cup sugar, one cup salt. Mix thoroughly and pour over small cucumbers which have been thoroughly scrubbed. Store in open crock.

Swedish Potato Cakes — Two cups cold boiled potatoes, one egg, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half cup milk, one cup flour, salt and pepper. Mash potatoes or put through ricer or sieve. Beat all ingredients well and drop from spoon on well-greased griddle. Cook slowly, browning on both sides.

Hot Potato Salad——Pare six or eight large potatoes and boil in salted water until tender, but not mushy, then slice thin while hot Peel and cut up three large onions into small bits and mix with potatoes . Cut half a dozen slices of bacon into small pieces, fry until light brown, remove bacon from fat and mix with potato and onion. Into the fat in the pan stir three tablespoons vinegar, mix well, and pour over potato mixture, mix lightly and serve hot. This amount will serve six.

Marriage Meddlers

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Well!" he prodded, when I did not answer him. "You said you had a plan for getting out of the hotel. Let's hear it!"

"I don't think it's going to sound as well as I thought it would," I said a bit despondently, and Dicky put his hand beneath my chin and lifted my face so that his eyes bored into mine.

"Look here, old Dear!" he said insistently. "Did my teasing get you down? You know I don t mean a word of it."

"Not a bit," I prevaricated stoutly. "It's only that I'm suddenly getting a little doubtful about it"

Suppose you let me be the judge of that," he said. "Go on! Spill your plan."

Tells Him Plan.

"Well, you know there are three big department stores between the Lansfield and the other hotel."

"With several entrances for each," he supplemented. "Go on."

"I thought we'd go out of the hotel, summon a taxicab, and drive to the nearest one. We'd have the man paid before we stopped, and we'd dash in the door and zig-zag through the aisles to another street entrance where we'd seize the nearest taxi and repeat the performance at every store until we reached the other hotel. I know it's old stuff, but—"

Dicky had been gravely listening, but now he nodded his head in approval.

"Of course it is," he said, "but it's also always good. Indeed, I can't think of anything better. You and Mary are both active, your brain cells function perfectly, and your eyes are keen. Also, I think you told me that you know the features of at least one of the detectives old Phil has planted in the front of your hotel. If I have a suggestion it would be that you choose an hour for your exit when you know he will be on the job. Then you'll know what he's doing while he will believe that he's completely out of your sight."

"I had planned to do just that," I said. "I'm so glad you approve. Have you anything to suggest?"

"Nothing except to inquire what message for possible inquiring friends you're going to leave at the hotel."

Leaving Town.

"I thought I'd leave word that Mary and I were going out of town for a couple of days, and that any message was to be given to Miss Whitlock."

"That's fine," he said approvingly. "And what are you going to have Miss Whitlock tell them?"

"I hadn't reached that far," I confessed with a wry smile.

"How would this do?" Dicky asked, warming to his work in a manner that cheered me immensely. "Have her say that Mary was not well when you returned, and that you had taken her to friends on the Jersey coast for a couple of days at the seashore. She is to say that you have asked her to give your address to no one except in case of grave emergency. She will add that any message is to be left with her and that she expects you back in two days."

He finished with a flourish, and I clapped my hands together softly.

"Splendid! And how I'd like to be a mouse in the wall if Philip Veritzen gets on the wire."

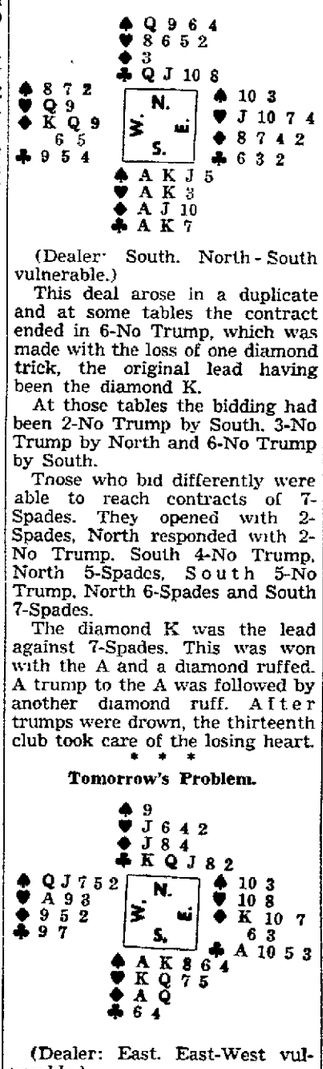
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

FOUR-CARD VALUES

FOUR-CARD suit values are not properly appreciated by many fair players. A lot of them consider that an evenly distributed hand, packed with high cards, will produce as many tricks at no trump as at a suit bid. That may be so if the partner's hand also is evenly balanced. But suppose it contains a nice singleton, or a well-placed doubleton The combined holdings then may be a trick or two, or even three tricks stronger at a good four-card suit fit.



(Dealer South. North-South vulnerable.)

This deal arose in a duplicate and at some tables the contract ended in 6-No Trump, which was made with the loss of one diamond trick, the original lead having been the diamond K.

At those tables the bidding had been 2-No Trump by South. 3-No Trump by North and 6-No Trump by South.

Those who bid differently were able to reach contracts of 7-Spades. They opened with 2-Spades, North responded with 2-No Trump. South 4-No Trump, North 5-Spades, South 5-No Trump, North 6-Spades and South 7-Spades.

The diamond K was the lead against 7-Spades. This was won with the A and a diamond ruffed. A trump to the A was followed by another diamond ruff. After trumps were drown, the thirteenth club took care of the losing heart.

Be Perfect Week-End Guest By Remembering Few Brief Rules

By JOAN DURHAM

(AP Feature Service Writer)

The perfect guest puts a guarantee tag on week-end harmony. He (or she) is one of the most priceless assets a hostess can have.

For all sorts of things can happen when groups of people are thrown into close contact over a prolonged period of time.

Mild antagonisms develop into powerful frictions. Individual weaknesses blow up into community animosities. Mole-hill comments grow into mountainous discords.

You have definite obligations when you accept a week-end invitation, obligations that don't stop with a box of candy or a copy of the latest book.

A Few Pointers.

So pack these resolutions into that brand-new bag of yours—along with those sun glasses, extra sneakers and that third pair of hose:

Look your best. Nine times out of ten your hostess will want to show you off sometime during your stay.

Don't comment on other guests. Your innocent comment may do a lot of damage when it's relayed.

Don't borrow. Take along what you'll need—and do without what you left behind.

Be helpful, but don't be underfoot when your hostess is very busy. Do what you can to keep things running smoothly without asking a lot of questions, and let it go at that.

Don't ever droop into boredom. People who are interesting themselves don't get bored. Tired, yes . . . but that can be remedied by excusing yourself for a little nap.

Pay Attention.

Do your share of the talking—but no more. There's nothing so enervating as being forced to witness a one-man show or listen to an overdose of feminine chatter.

Be as attentive as you can. Attention is a very welcome form of flattery—for men, women and children. If your hostess asks you to transfer your attentions, do just that. All that lonesome little brunet in the corner may need to convert her into a happy, charming guest is a taste of pleasant company.

Keep from scattering your belongings about. Then your hostess won't have to trail you constantly to pick up after you—or mail back what you've left

Remember those little extra considerations, like folding up the papers neatly after you've read them; wringing out your own bathing suit and hanging it up to dry, turning out lights you don't need.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Sept. 30.

According to the planetary transits, this may be a day in which the mentality will be sharp and alert, which is fortunate, since there are many difficult, perplexing, intriguing and treacherous conditions to cope with. There are signs of fraud, trickery, duplicity and loss unless extra precaution be taken with writings, documents and in agreements with certain undercover or secretive slants

Those whose birthday it is are on the verge of a year beset by many peculiar factors, with confusion and perplexity. They had best use their well-stimulated faculties to unravel or avert sinister situations, schemes or duplicity, with especial care with writings, documents or subtle agreements.

A child born on this day may be of an emotional and imaginative nature, so guileless and confiding as to find itself entrapped in peculiar intrigues or difficulties. But its good intentions and sound aspirations may win the indorsement of important personages. It may have some unusual intellectual gifts.

Carrots Can Be Prepared Differently

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Modern cooks have discovered so many attractive uses for the once-neglected bunch of carrots that the days are almost forgotten when this vegetable was hardly ever prepared except in a stew or with a boiled New England dinner. Today, we offer some tempting, healthful and satisfying carrot dishes.

Here are some ways of preparing young carrots. Rub carrots with a cloth dipped in salt, cook until tender in salted water, put in a hot dish with butter, pepper and salt, some chopped parsley, a squeeze of lemon, and a teaspoon of brown sugar. Heat in oven.

Here is another carrot dish. Melt a lump of butter in saucepan, add an ounce of flour, mix well together, add three tablespoons of milk, pepper and salt and a suspicion of mace. Cook carrots in this for 25 minutes, add tablespoon of cream and serve hot.

A nice soup may be prepared by placing meat bones in water, adding a dozen large, grated carrots, some onions, seasonings, and cooking slowly for about four hours, stirring occasionally. Rub through a sieve and reheat.

A carrot souffle is made by using carrot puree with white sauce, eggs and seasonings, then baking.

Carrot Fritters.

To make fritters, cook carrots until tender, mashing with some chopped parsley, a little onion. Add bread crumbs and mix with butter. Drop this mixture by spoonfuls into boiling fat, and fry until brown.

Carrots are delicious baked, and this is a nice way to prepare them. Cut young carrots lengthwise in two, or if old carrots, cut into fingers. Fry them brown in cooking oil as quickly as possible. They need not be tender through, the point being to give them a caramel-like crust of brown. Drain away the excess oil, but leave the carrots fairly wet. Put them in an ovenproof dish with chunks of cold meat free from any fat. Dredge some seasoned flour over them, add a cup of stock, cover the dish and cook in slow oven for 45 minutes

Carrot preserve is delicious with cold meat, especially with cold pork or chicken. Take a pound of carrots and a pound of apples (weighed after having been peeled, cored and sliced), a pound of sugar, and one lemon. Wash carrots and cut into discs one-quarter-inch thick. Boil in one-half pint water till tender. Strain, make up the liquor to a half pint with water and cook opples in it. Apples should be of a kind that readily mash. When cooked, add sugar and cooked carrots. Simmer for a further 10 minutes, and then add juice of lemon.

Dry mustard mixed with milk instead of water will not dry out but will keep moist until it has all been used.

Nerves Can Make You Glamour Girl.

Turn 'Nerves' Into Glamour.

Lovely Frances! It's hard to believe she was ever a victim of worry and hysteria. Yet now that she's found the secret of relaxation and nerve control, she is poised and glamorous.

Too many-hight strung people remain life-long slaves to "nerves" because they don't know how to direct their abundant energies.

How to escape insomnia, worry and temper, and redirect energy? Overcome insomnia by learning to relax one group of muscles at a time—fingers, arms, legs. Go limp as a rag doll.

Banish worry by going for a walk or to the movies. Go to see a friend. Buy a new hat!

Many people have escaped the tyranny of "nerves" by learning the underlying causes. In our 32-page booklet a prominent physician tells you how to live radiantly and joyously, how to turn "nerves" into loveliness.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of overcoming "nerves" and everyday health problems to The Mansfield News-Journal Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.
